Kennedy Still in Critical Condition; Wife Keeps Vigil in Los Angeles Hospital

TOO CLOSE A PARALLEL

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, who was critically wounded by a gunman early Wednesday morning, is shown with his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, who was slain by an assassin Nov. 22, 1963. The younger Kennedy's life is now in grave danger.

V.C. Reported Pulling Out To Rest for New Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — The allied command detected Wednesday a general withdrawal of the enemy units that attacked Saigon and its suburbs a month ago and a prisoner said the Viet Cong would pull out to rest and refit for a new attack.

Vietnamese rangers, in blocking positions to cut off possible escape routes, killed 21 Viet Cong in heavy fighting through the abandoned shops and homes of the war torn Cholon district three miles from the center of the capital.

Government marines ambushed an estimated 300-man force of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese apparently trying to leave the Gia Dinh suburb northeast of the city. The marines killed 10 enemy and captured 10 more in the trap on the banks of the Saigon River.

Vietnamese navy boats machine-gunned a group of enemy soldiers that tried to swim the 300-foot-wide river and claimed 15 of the enemy were killed.

AP photographer Horst Faas said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong apparently were trying to move out of the area. He said they were digging bunkers along their withdrawal route to the river and were running into government ambushes along the way.

The enemy maneuvers gave credence to the report of a captured Communist cell leader who said the Viet Cong were beginning a 10-day rest in preparation for a June 15 attack.

He told interrogators the aim of the offensive is to prove to the city's residents—and to U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators in Paris—that the Viet Cong can attack and enter Saigon at will.

Reports from other prisoners indicated that enemy units fighting in Gia Dinh and Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, are desperately short of ammunition.

Heavy fighting still raged in Cholon where the enemy troops made their deepest penetration of the month-long offensive.

The 35th Ranger Battalion attacked the die-hard holdouts Wednesday and recaptured one city block before they were stopped by B40 rockets and sniper fire. The rangers reported the Viet Cong moved from house to house toward the southwest.

AP photographer Le Ngoc Cung said the guerrillas made it across once-busy Nguyen Trai Street and were holed up again.

The main Viet Cong stronghold seemed to be a three-story building and the rangers called in a demolition team to try to blow it up.

Vietnam Peace Talks Recess Until Wednesday

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese parried an American probe seeking a break in the deadlock in the peace talks Wednesday and left the impression it will hold out until the United States surrenders on the issue of halting its air attacks.

At the request of the North Vietnamese delegation the sessions were recessed until next Wednesday, the longest gap thus far, the U.S. delegation spokesman said, "I can't say that any progress was made."

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the chief U.S. negotiator, seized upon a Hanoi statement of last week which demanded that the United States "acknowledge its responsibility" to halt the bombardment. That statement, it was understood, later was revised by Hanoi from the original wording in the official newspaper Nhan Dan.

"You have asked," Harriman said, "that we acknowledge or determine our responsibility for a cessation of all bombardment. As we have stated, this has never represented an insurmountable obstacle for us, and we are prepared to cease the bombardment at an appropriate time and in appropriate circumstances. I hope that we will proceed forthwith to the discussion of other matters."

William J. Jordan, the U.S. spokesman, said Harriman used "acknowledge and determine" to cover either version of the Hanoi statement which had been corrected from "acknowledge" to "determine." There is yet to be any firm indication that Hanoi intended this to mean any change in its basic position.

The indications now seemed otherwise, as if Hanoi is prepared to hold out as long as necessary for a U.S. retreat on the issue. Jordan said Xuan Thuy, the chief Hanoi negotiator, again "firmly rejected" any idea that Hanoi should respond to a cessation of bombardment by scaling down its own war activity.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy remained in extremely critical condition Wednesday, failing to show any improvement 12 hours after surgeons removed from his brain all but a fragment of a bullet police said ment, "is concerned over his continuing failure to show improvement during the post-operative period."

But the press aide, answering questions some 17 hours after Kennedy was cut down in a Los Angeles hotel, would not say Kennedy's condition is deteriorating.

"We felt it would be appropriate at this point," he said, "to stress the critical condition related to survival during this period as well as to the period beyond."

Mankiewicz said although "there might have been some change," he thought Kennedy's life signs — pulse, breathing, blood pressure — were still good.

Earlier, Kennedy underwent a series of medical tests at Good Samaritan Hospital. Then, too, they showed no measurable improvement.

The man accused of the shooting was captured on the spot, and identified hours later as Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian native of Jerusalem, who has lived in nearby Pasadena, Calif., since boyhood.

A team of brain surgeons operated for 3 hours and 40 minutes, striving to save the life of the New York senator, brother of the assassinated President John F. Kennedy. Robert was gunned down at the moment of his greatest victory in the California primary as he campaigned for the White House.

His wife, Ethel, kept vigil in a hospital room near that in which her wounded 42-year-old husband was under intensive care at Good Samaritan Hospital.

The accused assailant was hospitalized, too. Police said he was under maximum security in a hospital ward at Los Angeles

Campaign Sweepstakes Now In State of Chaotic Uncertainty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The burst of gunfire that critically wounded Robert F. Kennedy drove the 1968 presidential sweepstakes into a state of chaotic uncertainty.

Kennedy's presidential opponents promptly imposed an indefinite moratorium on campaign appearances.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, whom Kennedy defeated in Tuesday's South Dakota and California primaries, said he would confer in Washington with Kennedy's aides, President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey "before taking on other political activities of any kind."

Humphrey, who was not entered in any of the primaries,

Paris Subway Trains And Buses Start Rolling

PARIS (AP) — The municipal transport system announced Wednesday night Paris' subway trains and buses will start rolling Thursday. This appeared to be the first major break-through in a strike wave that has crippled France for 19 days.

The Socialist Trade Union Federation, one of several involved in talks for a settlement, said the decision to restore the capital's public transport came "after long and difficult negotiations which have brought substantial improvement" for the employees.

A joint announcement from all unions involved said the workers had agreed by a large majority to accept the proposed settlement and return to work. Details of the settlement were not reported.

The Paris subway has 105 miles of track and carries more than 1.5 billion travelers a year. The bus services carry about 300 million passengers a year.

The government had asserted its intention of insuring the right to work of strikers wanting to return to their jobs. Elsewhere in France the back-to-work movement appeared slow but steady.

There seemed to be a possibility of a general return of railroad workers. The unions said that, on the basis of votes already counted, the workers appeared to be choosing 3 to 1 to end their strike.

Post office employees were getting down to work in many cities, sorting the mountain of accumulated mail.

Air France personnel voted to end their strike.

Paris' Orly and Le Bourget airports began reopening.

Some ports were operating but the Channel ports, Calais, Boulogne and Dunkerque, were still shut tight.

was fired by a mysterious young gunman with a Jordanian heritage. "Sen. Kennedy's condition is still described as extremely critical as to life," the senator's press secretary, Frank Mankiewicz, told newsmen.

"The team of physicians attending Sen. Robert Kennedy," Mankiewicz said in a brief statement, "is concerned over his continuing failure to show improvement during the post-operative period."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, calling on the nation to "put an end to violence — and to the preaching of violence," named a special commission Wednesday night to search for ways to "eliminate the cause of these aberrations."

The President went on radio and television to declare he was "shocked and dismayed" by the critical wounding of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles. He said he is "as deeply disturbed as you are by lawlessness and violence in our country — of which this tragedy is the latest spectacular example."

He said 200 million Americans did not strike Kennedy any more than they struck down President John F. Kennedy in 1963 or Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in April, "but those awful events gave us ample warning."

"In a climate of extremism, or disrespect for law, or contempt for the rights of others, violence may bring down the very best among us," Johnson said.

"And a nation that tolerates violence in any form cannot expect to be able to confine it to minor outbursts."

Johnson said, "We cannot, we must not tolerate the sway of violent men among us. We must not permit those filled with hatred, and careless of innocent lives, to dominate our streets and fill our homes with fear."

"We cannot sanction the appeal of violence no matter what its cause, no matter what its grievance from which it springs."

"There is never — never — any justification for violence that tears at the fabric of our national life. That inspires such fear in peaceful citizens that they arm themselves with deadly weapons."

Grappling Crews Recover Bodies

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — Police grappling crews recovered the bodies of a 20-year-old man and his 12-year-old nephew Wednesday a few hours after they drowned while trying to swim across the Allegheny River here.

Witnesses said Henry Hamilton and his nephew, Charles West, both of Salamanca, swam about half-way across the 100-yard wide river then began to scream for help. The witnesses were children, and they ran for assistance. By the time they returned, both swimmers had disappeared.

weapons; that sets citizen against citizen or group against group," the President went on. "A great nation can guarantee freedom for its people, and the hope of progressive change only under the rule of law," he said.

"Let us—for God's sake—resolve to live under the law. Let us put an end to violence—and to the preaching of violence."

Johnson said he is naming the special commission to "look into the causes, the occurrence and the control of physical violence across the nation—from assassination motivated by prejudice, ideology, politics and insanity—to violence on our city streets and even in our homes."

The commission, he said, will consist of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower; Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.; Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.; Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La.; Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio; Roman Catholic Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York; longshoreman-philosopher Eric Hoffer of Los Angeles; former Ambassador Patricia Roberts-Harris; Judge Leon Higginbotham and Albert E. Jenner Jr., a Chicago lawyer.

In naming the commission, Johnson said, it will try to find out:

"What in the nature of our people and the environment of our society makes possible such murder and violence?"

"How does it happen?"

"What can be done to prevent assassination to protect public figures?"

"What can be done to eliminate the basic causes of these aberrations?"

Johnson said "supported by suggestions and recommendations of criminologists, sociologists and psychologists—all of our medical and social sciences—we hope to learn why we inflict such suffering on ourselves and—I hope and pray—how to stop it."

In referring to the Kennedy assassination attempt, Johnson again urged Congress to pass his gun control proposal. He said it would not end violence but would cut it down.

Suspect in Kennedy Shooting Is Under Maximum Security Guard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A notebook apparently belonging to the man accused of shooting Sen. Robert Kennedy mentions "the necessity to assassinate the senator," Mayor Samuel Yorty said Wednesday.

The mayor said notes apparently written by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, declared the assassination must be done before June 5, 1968.

Kennedy was shot June 5, moments after thanking supporters for his California presidential primary election victory over Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

It also is the first anniversary of the Arab-Israeli war.

Sirhan is described by officials and acquaintances as a Jordanian who hates Jews, writes in a pro-Communist way—and fell from a horse recently trying to become a jockey.

"He does a lot of writing, pro-Communist and anticapitalist," Yorty said in a copyrighted tion of Arab Students.

McCarthy, too, had said in the televised joint appearance that the United States has a commitment to support Israel.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said in Washington at mid-morning that he had no evidence of a conspiracy in the Kennedy shooting.

John Shear, a trainer at Los Angeles area race tracks, said Sirhan worked for him as a groom four years ago, and became inflamed whenever trouble broke out between Jordan and Israel.

Shear made the statement in a report to the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Association at Hollywood Park. "When trouble broke out between Jordan and Israel, Sirhan would become inflamed," he said. "He was very pro-Jordan and anti-Israel."

Marcus McBroom, who witnessed the shooting, reported that the gunman cried:

"I did it for my country. I love my country."

The shots fired into Kennedy's head signaled a halt to the presidential campaign. The extent of the moratorium was pronounced by Blair Clark, campaign manager of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who said he had wired all his headquarters: "Close up."

President Johnson kept in touch with Kennedy's situation, and talked directly with his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

At his medical briefing, Mankiewicz said there were no plans for further surgery "at this time."

He said two bullets, one fragmented, lodged in Kennedy's head. One was relatively intact and was not causing major concern at this point, he said.

Mankiewicz said Kennedy remained unconscious.

Mankiewicz said he was not medically qualified to express optimism or pessimism about Kennedy's prospects for recovery.

He said the dangers to Kennedy involve damage from the bullets themselves and from bone fragments dislodged by the bullets.

Mankiewicz also said there is secondary danger from loss of blood which could impair the blood supply to the brain if severe enough.

The press secretary spoke only of two bullets.

This left unclear the report of a third wound, said by doctors to have been suffered when Kennedy's forehead was grazed by a slug.

Police Inspector Peter Hagen said the gun used in the shooting was an eight-shot, .22 caliber Iver Johnson revolver.

The gun, seized by Kennedy bodyguards, was the link police used to determine the identity of the alleged assailant.

Nine Divorces Are Granted

Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr. granted nine divorces Monday. Decrees were awarded to Helene K. Jackson, RD 1, Clarendon vs. William E. Jackson, Mason's Mobile City; Edna R. Wonderling, 810 Pennsylvania ave., e. vs. Thad J. Wonderling, Riverside Hotel.

interview with Radio News International.

"Evidently he was quite pro-Arab in the Arab-Israeli matter. He has 'Long-Live Nasser' written in there."

He "may have been inflamed" by a statement from Sen. Robert Kennedy during a televised campaign debate Saturday night, said a New York committee on American-Arab relations.

During the debate with McCarthy, Kennedy said the United States should supply jets to Israel.

"It is this disrespect for the human Arab persons which brings about this kind of violence," said Dr. Mohammad T. Mehdi, secretary-general of the Action Committee on American-Arab Relations.

Under maximum security guard in a hospital ward at the Los Angeles County Central Jail, Sirhan kept mum about the shooting. Police said he is the only suspect.

He was hospitalized with a broken index finger and sprained left ankle suffered in the melee of his capture, said an official source at the jail.

"No. No," sobbed Sirhan's mother, Mary, when she learned one of her five sons was arrested.

A neighbor in suburban Pasadena, Marguerite Daugherty, said Mrs. Sirhan told her that her son fell from a horse recently on a ranch and "since then I can't talk to him."

"Isn't it terrible?" Mrs. Daugherty remarked.

"Yes," she said Mrs. Sirhan replied, "It's too awful to think about."

"All I know is he is a nice kid," said Said Sirhan in a radio interview. He identified himself as a brother of the accused man.

"I mean this is really something that shook me up that my brother would do such things. I don't think so. I don't think that he would pay attention to such things even."

"When there was trouble between Jordan and Israel, he would become inflamed," said John Shear, who worked with the prisoner at Hollywood Park race track.

"Since I wasn't interested in politics I would not discuss it," said Shear, an assistant trainer.

"But he was violently pro-Jordan and anti-Israeli."

"He wanted to be a jockey and the people around the track advised him to get a job on a farm where he could exercise horses and learn to ride," said Shear.

He was a hot walker, who walked sweaty horses to cool them off.

"During a number of lengthy conversations, Sirhan talked freely and with interest—until asked who he was and anything about Kennedy," said Los Angeles Police Chief Thomas Reddin.

He was "very cool, very calm, very stable and quite lucid," Reddin said, but anytime the questions got around to Kennedy he would say, "I prefer to remain incommunicado."

Police said they found a notebook purportedly belonging to the suspect in the Pasadena residence and were trying to determine whether some of the writing in it is related to the shooting.

Some of the writing, described by police as indistinctly written, is in Arabic and some is in English. Officers said they were trying to find an Arabic interpreter.

Sirhan will appear for a preliminary hearing Monday in Division 40 of Los Angeles Municipal Court before Judge Joan Klein. She will determine whether to turn him over to Superior Court.

Reddin and Mayor Samuel Yorty, who identified Sirhan at a news conference, said they found out who he is by tracing the .22 caliber pistol used in the shooting.

They said Sirhan lived with a brother, Munir "Joe" Sirhan who works in a Pasadena department store.

Detectives whisked Joe away from the Sirhan home, where the brothers' mother, Mary, also lives.

When he was taken prisoner, Sirhan Sirhan had with him a

Four Pennsylvania Girls Stumble in Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight rounds of the National Spelling Bee were completed Wednesday with four Pennsylvania entries dropping out prior to Thursday's final rounds.

Mary E. Brandt, 14, of Philadelphia, stumbled on "palaver," putting a "b" where a "p" should have been.

Mary Wylesol, 13, of Cheltenham, Pa., went down on "disenchant," which she spelled "disenat."

Mary Ann Carr, 14, of Lancaster, Pa., slipped up on "citron," which she spelled as "citrine."

Gloria Jean Rizzardi, 12, of Minersville, Pa., went out on "noblesse." She left off the final "e."

Fourteen girls and eight boys survived Wednesday's competition in the 41st annual event.

The contestants, ranging in age from 11 to 14, survived a barrage of 430 words through the first eight rounds, compared with 432 a year ago.

Chief Reddin said the car belonged to a hotel employee who worked in the kitchen where Kennedy was gunned down. The employee said he didn't know Sirhan and didn't know how he got the key.

Reddin said Sirhan had no narcotics in his possession when he was apprehended—and apparently wasn't under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

"We have advised him of his rights," Reddin said. "He doesn't want a lawyer now."

Confession of Sirhan—with a representative of the district attorney's office—will be tape recorded, police chief said.

He said this wasn't done after the Dallas assassination in 1963 of Kennedy's brother, President John F. Kennedy.

Chief Reddin said the gun, a snub-nosed 8-shot Iver Johnson .22 caliber revolver, was the only evidence.

"We are now reasonably sure there's only one suspect," he said.

Sirhan is 5-feet-5 weighs about 120 pounds and has a swarthy complexion. His hair is wiry or bushy. One neighbor, Brandon Lamont, said he was a handyman around the house.

"He mowed the lawn," said Lamont, 21, an accoustical tile installer who has lived in the area 1½ years.

Local People Appalled at Tragic Event

The Warren area, like the rest of the nation and indeed, most of the world is appalled and shocked at the tragic event that struck Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The following are six typical reactions by local residents, who represent a cross section of the area.

Donald L. Holmes, RD1, Clarendon, Conewango Township chief of police and retired Pennsylvania State Police sergeant, said the attempted assassination "was a terrible thing regardless of political affiliation. The breakdown of law and order in this country can be attributed, to a great extent, to the recent Supreme Court decisions which are not consistent with our way of life. They coddle the criminal, making the job of protecting the general public as well as dignitaries, from this criminal element, very difficult."

William T. Huber, 25 Warren blvd., a junior at Warren Area High School, said: "I found it very difficult to believe that this had happened, particularly in view of the fact that the same thing had happened to his brother. While politically I disagreed with Sen. Kennedy, I respected his right to express his opinions."

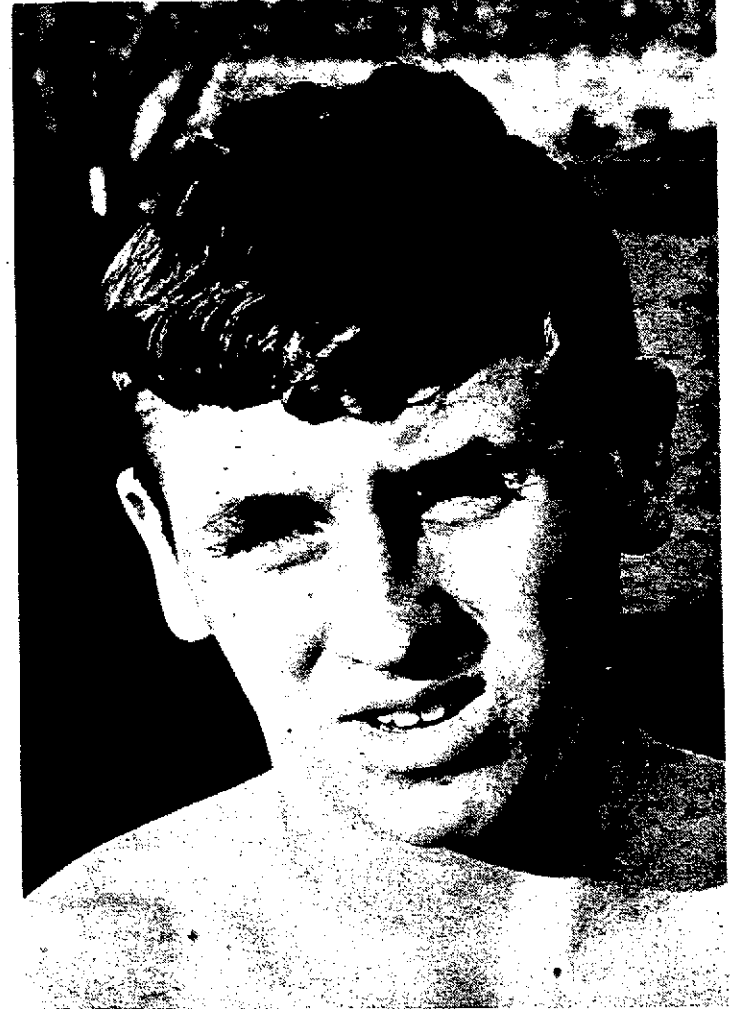

Rev. Harold G. Powell, 49 Cobham Park rd., pastor of the First Church of God, said: "I am appalled by this tragic event and find it difficult to understand how man can have such little respect for human life. I just can't understand man's unhumanity to man. I was reared to respect human life to the point that I could let someone take my life before I'd take theirs."

Mrs. Elaine Smith, 122 Walnut st., a housewife, said: "I cried all day after hearing the news this morning. His politics aside, all I could think of is Sen. Kennedy as a husband and father of 10 children. His wife must be under great emotional strain. If it were me, I'd go out of my mind. The whole thing is sick."

Wade E. Barre, 19 Warren blvd., an engineer at Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. said: "The first thing I thought upon hearing the tragic news was, what is this country coming to. If we can't maintain law and order here we can't very well be expected to get respect from other countries where we're trying to do business. This country needs to be brought back to the once prevailing concepts of law and order."

Mrs. Patricia LeMeur, 19 Fourth ave., a housewife, said: "The event is tragic for the country and a reflection of violence in our society today. While I don't believe the attempted assassination was a conspiracy in the accepted interpretation of the word, I do believe it was a conspiracy of a society that has condoned violence through its apathy. I agree with Sen. McCarthy that it is not enough to say it was simply the act of an insane person... something has to be done."

Assembly Staggered Over Attempt on RFK's Life

HARRISBURG (AP) — The General Assembly, staggered by the attempt on the life of U. S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, restricted its activity to a bare minimum Wednesday and then promptly adjourned for the week.

A special five-man Senate subcommittee reported, however, that it had reached agreement on Shafer administration amendments to the House-passed aid to nonpublic school bill.

And before the Senate quit until Monday, Appropriations Chairman George N. Wade, R. Cumberland, put Gov. Shafer's $1.9 billion budget before the chamber by introducing another 60 money bills valued at $242.1 million.

The introduction came two days after Wade had presented a $1.66 billion general appropriation bill which covers 80 per cent of state government spending. The measure was advanced into position for a final vote and then returned to Wade's committee for amendments.

Legislative leaders in both chambers reacted in shock and dismay to the news that Kennedy had been critically wounded in Los Angeles moments after he had claimed victory in California's presidential primary election.

"None of us has any real words to express our shock and amazement at what has happened," declared House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, R. Allegheny.

"How much longer must a Martin Luther King or a John F. Kennedy or a Robert F. Kennedy be felled before we put an end to this lawlessness?" asked Minority Leader Herbert Fine, man, D. Philadelphia.

"We must improve the moral standards of our people," admonished Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R. Bedford.

"This is an attack on all of us," commented Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline. "We must confess our weakness as men and reaffirm our total dependence on God."

After the legislature adjourned, Stroup told newsmen that the subcommittee had agreed to Shafer's plan of financing aid to private and parochial schools initially with $4.3 million in harness racing revenue.

They also were in accord with the governor's proposal to shift the financial burden to flat racing revenue when it reaches $10 million.

The House bill would empower the state to reimburse non-profit sectarian schools for the cost of teaching modern foreign languages, physical science, mathematics and physical education.

The House version would have funded the aid by setting aside each year 15 per cent of the state's cigarette tax collections, estimated at $27 million for the first year.

The five-member subcommittee, which is to report back to the full Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, also is working on a plan which would have the aid based on the cost of nonpublic schools of teachers' salaries, textbooks and other instructional supplies.

The money would be pro-rated on the basis of available funds. Under this formula, if available funds amounted to 25 per cent of the nonpublic school costs, all nonpublic schools would be reimbursed in this ratio.

The appropriation bills introduced by Wade included $150.9 million for Pennsylvania's state-related universities and state-aided private colleges and medical schools.

The three state-related universities came in for: Pennsylvania State University, $59.2 million; Pittsburgh, $32 million; and Temple, $31.4 million.

Other major measures were: $46.5 million for college scholarships; $8.9 million for mass transit grants and $1.4 million for the Pennsylvania Science and Engineering Foundation.

After their brief sessions, the House and Senate both adjourned until 3 p.m. Monday.

THE MAN ON THE STREET 'The Country's Gone Mad'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A steady stream of persons, young and old, well-to-do and poor, visited St. John's the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church in center city Philadelphia Wednesday, offering prayers for the wounded Sen. Robert Kennedy.

One was Mrs. Mary McCarthy, Irish born and 65. She was downtown shopping and stopped at the church.

"Although my name's McCar-they, I'm for Kennedy all the way. I love the Kennedys," she said.

"I knew it. I felt it. They didn't want his brother, so why should they want him? What is this world coming to?"

"The country's gone mad," said Leslie Friss, who operates a newsstand in a large Pittsburgh office building.

"Everybody's talking about it. They feel that if someone doesn't straighten this country out soon, Lord only knows what will happen to it."

A Pittsburgh housewife who declined to be identified was standing at a bus stop with her two small children. "What this country is coming to..." her voice trailed off and she shook her head. "I don't know."

"I couldn't believe it," said Greg Martin, 19, a sophomore at the University of Pittsburgh. "Two brothers in the same family."

"I don't know why they shot him," said Martin. "He wasn't even elected yet."

Silver-haired Mrs. Sam Hartman, a Pittsburgh law firm accountant, said, "I think it's just too damn bad. It makes me sad that people in this country can't just live and let live."

Penn Graduate On Kennedy Operating Team

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three surgeons, including a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, operated on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy early Wednesday to remove a bullet from his brain.

The three, including Dr. Nat D. Reid, a 1957 graduate of Penn, have a combined medical experience of 70 years.

Good Samaritan Hospital, where the operation Kennedy was performed, said other doctors were in the operating room, but that these three actually performed the surgery.

Reid, Los Angeles, instructor in neurosurgery, University of Southern California; born 1928, Asheville, N.C., graduate of University of Pennsylvania, 1957, MD degree.

Maxell M. Andler of Beverly Hills, Calif., associate clinical professor of neurosurgery, UCLA.

Henry M. Cuneo, Los Angeles associate clinical professor of neurosurgery, University of Southern California.

Shafer Calls Incident 'An Unconscionable Tragedy'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Shock and horror, mixed with fervent prayers for recovery, were expressed by Pennsylvanians Wednesday in the wake of the sudden and senseless shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy which Gov. Raymond P. Shafer called "an unconscionable tragedy."

It brought renewed demands, immediately, for quick enactment of stronger laws to control guns—and for tougher justice for criminals.

Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia, the state's biggest city where strong police measures have kept the lid on racial violence, said, "I am deeply shocked — this kind of thing should not happen in America."

But it did, in California, with in sight and sound of thousands of Kennedy Democrats in a crowded hotel — and almost within view and hearing of millions over television and radio.

"It is regrettable that the Kennedy family has to pay this kind of price for seeking public office," said Tate, a Democrat who is president of the U.S. League of Cities.

In the Keystone State, officials had to be awakened before dawn to be told the tragedy, and their first sleepy words were of the horror of the unwanted violence.

Shafer was in a Philadelphia hotel, where he had spent the night after appearing on a national television news program to comment on the California primary. He told of his determination to keep the Pennsylvania delegation solid behind his "favorite son" candidacy.

Would Shafer now press for passage of a new gun control law now before the legislature?

"Laws will help but the principal way to end this kind of things in the hearts and minds of individuals," said the governor.

"We are interested in upgrading our laws in this area to make it as difficult as possible to see actions like this occur."

State Rep. Herbert Fineman, a Philadelphia Democrat who is sponsoring the tougher bill, said, "This sad event again points up the almost desperate need for regulation of guns."

"Gun control legislation must be made a part of our system of law to prevent America from turning itself into an armed camp," said Fineman, pledging to fight harder to overcome opposition of sportsmen's groups.

State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, an old Kennedy friend, said the shooting is further proof of what he called "terroristic violence" sweeping like a tornado across the nation.

"The chief cause of the lack of security," said Musmanno, "is the soft attitude of the courts toward hardened criminals. I particularly deplore the almost brotherly treatment being given by the U.S. Supreme Court to murderers, rapists, robbers and Communists."

Kennedy was in Philadelphia April 2, 17 days after he decided to seek the Democratic presidential nomination. He spoke at the party's fund-raising dinner and warmly praised Philadelphia as the city which was responsible for his assassinated brother, John F. Kennedy, winning Pennsylvania's electoral votes in 1960.

The day before Kennedy campaigned in Philadelphia's predominantly Republican western suburbs where, in his typical manner, he moved fearlessly into huge crowds of screaming, clutching people who ripped at his clothes and yanked his hands and feet.

It was the kind of unprotected appearance that had become a Kennedy hallmark, very similar to the way his brother also campaigned — wading into the crowds to touch and be touched.

Kennedy attracted few fence-sitters — you either were for him strong, or you went hard for another man.

Tate, though admiring Kennedy's popularity, came out for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey 10 days ago. An overwhelming majority of Pennsylvania's powerful 130-vote delegation followed.

One who refused to join this anti-Kennedy tide was Congressman William J. Green, Philadelphia's city chairman hand-picked by Tate for the job. Green announced for Kennedy, and went to California for three days last week to campaign for his hero. He was stunned by the shooting.

Dr. John Logue, a Villanova University professor who heads the Kennedy campaign in Delaware County, said the shooting was an "awful thing — it's horrible — and I was shocked."

Logue, unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1966, said he is praying for Kennedy and hopes the senator will recover and "be able to resume his campaign."

Green was at home listening to the returns from the west coast when the news was flashed.

"I was deeply shocked," said Green. "This is not a time for a statement but for prayer for Bob Kennedy and his family. I hope that all will turn out well."

William J. Bradley, Jr., chairman of the Kennedy committee in Pennsylvania, said, "We're all in shock and praying for his recovery."

"My feelings, when informed about it, were inexplicable," said Bradley, a Philadelphia attorney. "I could not really believe that we were in another period of unbelievable violence."

William Devlin, Philadelphia's Republican chairman, said the shooting is "just an absolutely dreadful, unbelievable situation and I hope for the best."

Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick said, "It's unbelievable, it's shocking, that such a horrible tragedy could take place in this great nation. While we are all praying for the recovery of Sen. Kennedy let us also unite in our determination to stamp out violence in this country."

Senate Democratic Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline: "I'm numb with the awareness once again that this kind of thing can happen. It doesn't make sense. Man likes to think he is part of a sophisticated society, but apparently man isn't so sophisticated as he likes to think he is."

Byrd Brown, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the NAACP said, "The attempted assassination of Sen. Kennedy further points up the sickness that exists in our society. It's tragic and rather ironic that Sen. Kennedy was one of the few public figures in our country searching to understand the disenfranchised — those people in our country who are outcasts, so to speak, in our own homeland. It's tragic that he himself was victimized by this awful violence."

Mayor Joseph Barr, a Democrat, of Pittsburgh: "I am shocked and appalled by this senseless and tragic act. My deepest feelings go out to Sen. Kennedy's wife and to his family. I join with Americans everywhere in praying for his recovery."

Democratic State Chairman Thomas Z. Minehart: "Words cannot express the depth of my shock and dismay at this latest in a horrible series of tragedies suffered by the Kennedy family and the nation as well. My thoughts now are prayers for the recovery of Sen. Kennedy and the other four persons struck down in the appalling act of violence."

ART BUCHWALD

What DeGaulle Did Wrong

WASHINGTON—As a former resident of the fourth and fifth republics of France, I have been keeping tabs on the French crisis. It's very easy to sit back in the United States and be critical of how De Gaulle's government handled the situation, so I'll do it.

It seems to me the biggest mistake De Gaulle and his prime minister, Georges Pompidou, made was to give in immediately to all the unions' demands. Any one who knows the French character was horrified that the government, in order to end the general strike, agreed to wage increases in less than 24 hours.

This capitulation took all the fun out of the bargaining for the workers, and it was no wonder they refused to go back to work. When negotiating for anything in France, both sides have to be tough. The pleasure comes, not from results of labor negotiations, but from the negotiations themselves.

For example, had Pompidou and his ministers announced at the start of the strike that he would not raise salaries one sou, the workers would have been overjoyed. It would mean they would have to fight for their raises and it would also reassure them that De Gaulle was everything they were yelling he was.

The union officials would warn Pompidou that they intended to stay out until the workers got what they deserved. It would then have been Pompidou's turn to say that he would break the strike if he had to do it with force.

Happy day. The workers would demonstrate in the streets, the police would lob in some tear gas, and the negotiations would be ready to start.

Act II: The government would reluctantly meet with the unions, but ONLY to refuse their demands. Union officials would come out of the meeting enraged. They would tell the press that the cabinet ministers were bed-wetters and other such things. The government would say the union leaders were Communists and ate with their knives.

More demonstrations. A few cracked heads. Everyone is starting to enjoy himself. Another meeting is now held. The government gives in and offers a 1 per cent increase in wages. Fury from the union leaders. They call for a march to the Place de la Bastille. De Gaulle calls up the army to stop them. The unions march to the Place de la Republique instead. Ex-hilaration is the order of the day.

Pompidou calls for all-night negotiations as the workers march through the streets. He offers a 10 per cent increase in wages. The union leaders spit on it. They walk out. They come back. Fifteen per cent is the highest Pompidou says he can go. The union leaders laugh at him. Pompidou walks out. An hour later Pompidou walks back. "Twenty per cent," he cries. "And even with that, De Gaulle will have my head."

The union leaders report to the workers, who throw raw vegetables at them. They go back the next day and demand a 50 per cent increase or the strike goes on. Pompidou, red-faced, ups his ante to 25 per cent. The leaders walk out. Pompidou sends word he meant 30 per cent.

Talk that a settlement is near. The workers hold one more demonstration, as it might be the last one they have for years.

Finally, while the entire country is holding its breath and its nose from the garbage, Pompidou goes on television, and with the union leaders standing grimly by, announces he will give the workers a 35 per cent raise.

It is out-and-out victory for labor: cheering in the streets! Everyone wants to go back to work. They've gotten all their protesting out of their system. Vive la France! Vive la liberte!

Instead of following this script last week, the government, in its anxiety, gave in to the workers immediately, thus frustrating and alienating them forever.

No wonder the French people are still mad. De Gaulle, besides other things, has now taken all the fun out of labor negotiations.

Tractor-Trailers Pile Up; Damage Said $90,000

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Three tractor-trailers piled up on fog-shrouded Interstate 81 early Wednesday, injuring the drivers and causing damage estimated by state police at $90,000.

The accident at nearby Thompkinsville closed the highway's northbound lanes more than five hours.

Drivers Samuel Brace, 53, of Kingston, and William Beer, 47, of DuBois, were admitted to Scranton State General Hospital. The third driver, Robert Perry, 31, of Enola, suffered minor injuries.

State police said one rig carried a cargo of coconut oil that spilled over the highway. The other two rigs were loaded with various cargo.

LBJ Appoints Negro Judge To Group Probing Violence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., one of a handful of "distinguished Americans" named by President Johnson to investigate violence in the nation, was the first Negro ever appointed to a commission-level post in a federal government regulatory agency.

The former member of the Federal Trade Commission told the Associated Press moments after the President announced his appointment in a nationwide television-radio speech:

"The president called me this evening and asked me if I would serve on this commission. I told him I was pleased. This is an important issue and an important responsibility."

Higginbotham, 40, said the President "gave no reason" for choosing him, but the judge has served on a number of federal commissions and advisory bodies, including the 1964 White House Commission "To Fulfill These Rights."

Asked whether he already had formed any opinions on what Johnson called the "tragic phenomena" of violence, Higginbotham said: "Obviously it is an important matter and obviously I don't think problems are solved through violence. That is the limit of what I want to say about it tonight."

The judge said the president told him the commission would be served by a professional staff on the pattern of the recent Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

The staff, he said, would "do a substantial amount of the preliminary work" allowing commission members "to give substantial time to the commission without abdicating work at home."

Higginbotham became the first Negro ever appointed to a commission-level post in a federal regulatory body in 1962 when the late President John F. Kennedy named him to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). The following year, the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce named him as one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men in America.

He was appointed to the federal court bench in 1964. Prior to his appointment to the FTC, Higginbotham was engaged in the practice of law in Philadelphia.

He also served as commissioner for the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission; special deputy state attorney general, assistant district attorney for Philadelphia County, Pa., and special hearing officer for the U.S. Department of Justice.

A native of Trenton, N.J., Higginbotham attended public schools there, graduated from Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, in 1949 and earned a law degree at Yale in 1952.

Higginbotham and his wife, Jeanne, have two children, a daughter, Karen Lee, and a son, Stephen Lee.

ZOO GETS RAILROAD
BROOKFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Visitors to Brookfield Zoo now will be able to ride a tiny railroad around the zoo grounds. A new narrow gauge line is under construction and locomotives with coaches are being prepared for the 2 1/4-mile run.

Two trains will operate this year. One will pull four passenger cars carrying 124 adults and children. Another will pull three cars with a capacity of 105.

Stations will be located at the North Gate, Seven Seas Panorama and the Children's Zoo area. Running time around the outer perimeter of the zoo is 30 minutes.

Assassination Attempt Adds Impetus to Gun Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—As Sen. Robert F. Kennedy lay gravely wounded by shots from a pistol, Congress continued to move Wednesday toward final passage of partial new restrictions on the sale of handguns.

The step came as the House voted 317 to 80 against sending to a conference the Senate-passed Omnibus Crime Bill, which includes a ban on mail order sale of handguns.

The House thus indicated its readiness to approve the bill and send it to President Johnson. The final vote is scheduled Thursday.

Although the measure also prohibits over-the-counter sale of handguns by nonresidents of a state, it doesn't restrict sale of rifles and shotguns as proposed by Johnson.

Chief sponsor of the stronger version was Kennedy's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D. Mass.

And Robert Kennedy himself long had urged tougher restrictions. In a speech before the New York City Council last August, he said:

"If we act now, we can save hundreds of lives in this country and spare thousands of families all across this land the grief and heartbreak that may come from the loss of a husband, a son, a brother or a friend."

The Kennedys had suffered the loss of their other brother, President John F. Kennedy, who was slain with a mail order rifle in 1963.

The measure expected to be approved Thursday would not prohibit sale of rifles or shotguns through the mails, as proposed by Johnson and supported by Edward Kennedy and others. At the White House, press secretary George Christian was asked if Johnson might now seek congressional approval of a stronger gun control bill. "Let's just wait for developments on that," he said.

Nation and World Express Shock and Grief at Shooting

IN HAPPIER DAYS

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy rides through San Francisco's Chinatown in his final appearance in the Bay Area prior to departing for Southern California where he was gunned down early Wednesday morning shortly after making a California Democratic Primary victory speech at a Los Angeles hotel.

Shock and Gloom Grip US Military Men in Vietnam

(c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON — Shock and gloom gripped American military men here as word of the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy spread rapidly Wednesday afternoon through this uneasy capital.

"Oh, my God!" said Sgt. 4 Phillip Ballard of West Memphis, Ark. "It's unbelievable, I feel the same as last time."

At the heavily guarded American embassy secretaries and officials stood silent around radios and listened to the Armed Forces radio bulletins from Los Angeles. A secretary in the political section bit her lip.

"No, no," she whispered as the radio flashed word that Kennedy had been shot in the head. "No, no."

On the third floor, the executive section, one of the highest American officials here shook his head. "We're absolutely shocked," he said quietly. "There's profound disbelief here. People are just staring at each other in the halls. We don't know what to say to each other."

Although officials here have sharply disagreed with Kennedy's opposition to Vietnam policies, there was little comment about these differences. "Nobody's even talking about politics here," said a prominent official at the American Embassy. "It's beyond that. What most of us feel is horror and a very deep concern for what's happening in our country."

In downtown Saigon, a doctor from Los Angeles, Bryan Hiebert, commented that "this whole business makes that poor family seem cursed. What a horrible thing."

Both the U.S. Mission and the South Vietnamese Government withheld official comment of the shooting.

At the sprawling "Little Pentagon," headquarters of U.S. Gen. William C. Westmoreland at Tan Son Nhut Airbase, privates, majors and colonels placed transistor radios on desks. Along the white and lime green hallways, the single sound that echoed were announcements from Los Angeles repeating: "Senator Kennedy remains in critical condition... doctors are about to begin operating... the victory celebration has turned into a nightmare."

"What every one seems to be saying here is 'What's going on back in the states?'" said a Brigadier General. "That's the universal question today."

Word of the shooting jolted Saigon at 3:35 p.m., 20 minutes after the incident, when the Armed Forces Vietnam Network interrupted a Nat King Cole record "She's Funny That Way" to announce that Kennedy and his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, had been shot in Los Angeles.

The Armed Forces Network, which beams to most of the 533,000 American troops in Vietnam, received hundreds of telephone calls at the outlets in Danang, Pleiku, Cam Ranh Bay and Qui Nhon.

Through the warm, humid afternoon, as word of the shooting spread in Saigon, sorrow tempered with uncertain anger stirred within the American community of both servicemen and civilians.

"Something's got to be done about the control of firearms," said First Lt. Gary Carpenter, a 22-year-old officer from St. Louis, Mo., "when we're going to learn to control firearms?"

"What I think we should do is get out of here and help the United States," said Airman First Class Robert D. Heyn, 20, from Federalway, Wash. "Something's got to be done."

The South Vietnamese government generally withheld comment. Many Vietnamese only heard of the shooting shortly before the 7 p.m. curfew began and scurried home to turn on the radio.

As a critic of the war and an advocate of an easing to U.S. involvement here, Kennedy had been repeatedly attacked by the government. Within recent weeks a growing number of newspaper editorials had voiced the fear that Kennedy would "sell out" South Vietnam if elected president.

"Tragic," said one official slowly this afternoon. "That is a tragic family." "Politicking in the United States is as dangerous as elsewhere," said another South Vietnamese official. "It is a tragic and regrettable incident. Will this mean that Johnson's policy will not be changed here. What does it mean for Vietnam?"

UN Delegations Stunned Regardless of Politics

(c) N.Y. Times News Service UNITED NATIONS — The attempted murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles, Calif., early Wednesday has stunned delegations to the United Nations regardless of their political orientation.

The attempt on the life of the brother of John F. Kennedy who, while President of the United States, died of assassin's bullets has raised serious discussion here as to whether there exists, in fact, a "conspiracy" in the United States to eliminate "liberal" thought and action from the American scene.

"How many 'coincidences'... how many 'impulsive' actions... and how many 'inexplicable' incidents must occur in your country before you face the fact that there is, here, a pattern, a design and organized violence that

Stunned and Shocked Nation Prays for Kennedy and Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stunned nation and a shocked President Johnson prayed Wednesday for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and for the country where violence and political assassination have become so commonplace.

"There are no words equal to the horror of this tragedy," Johnson said shortly after Kennedy was critically wounded by a hail of bullets fired in a Los Angeles hotel. Five other persons were less seriously hurt.

"Our thoughts and our prayers are with Sen. Kennedy, his family and the other victims," the President said. "All Americans pray for his recovery. We also pray that divisiveness and violence be driven from the hearts of men everywhere."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, one of Kennedy's two rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, said, "Our hopes and prayers are with Sen. Kennedy and those others who have been the victims of this dreadful act of violence. It is a shocking and terrible thing that has happened. Our hearts go out to Mrs. Kennedy and the children and the families of the other wounded."

Kennedy's other opponent, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D. Minn., said no words could express his feelings. "It is not enough in my judgment to say that this was the act of one deranged man," he said. "The nation, I think, bears too great a burden of guilt..."

McCarthy said he was indefinitely suspending all political activity.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he was shocked and appalled. "My deepest sympathies go to the senator's family which already has known more than its share of tragedy," Nixon said.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, also a GOP presidential aspirant, said, "All Americans of good will are stunned and appalled. What strikes anyone of us strikes all of us. We are gravely wounded. I am filled with sorrow for the senator and his family. And this sorrow extends to all our nation. For such an assault on one man is an assault on our whole national life."

Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said the shooting "is symptomatic of the lawlessness and violence which has invaded our nation."

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., whose husband was killed by an assassin on April 4, sent Mrs. Kennedy a telegram saying in part: "I am praying for your husband whom I so much respect and I am praying for our country in this period of great national tragedy and peril."

Reaction came quickly from other civil rights leaders.

"I'm shocked and horrified to think that this type of attempted assassination has become an American habit as it would appear," said Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

James Farmer, a civil rights activist, said of the shooting: "A terrible contagion of political violence has struck again. Americans somehow must learn that debate should be conducted with words, and not bullets."

Psychiatrists See Violence As Growing Factor in US Life

NEW YORK (AP) — Violence stalks through American public life like a poison shadow, waiting, waiting and then—striking.

Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Medgar Evers, Malcolm X, Kennedy, King. And now, another Kennedy.

With the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday psychiatrists saw violence shown once again as coming closer to the surface of American life.

"Once the pattern of behavior is established, it tends to be repeated," said Dr. John Spiegel, director of the Center for the Study of Violence at Brandeis University.

"It is in the public mind that this kind of thing can be done. The pattern was set with Lincoln. And it always seems to be with a gun."

The gun, it is not an American invention but has long been an American institution.

"The populace as a whole is conditioned to expect violence," said Spiegel. "Behind this is America's gun fetish and the notion that a gun can be used to solve conflict. It begins with children, acting out with guns."

And it began long ago.

"Violence by gun is an American trait," said Dr. David Abrahamsen, a New York psychiatrist experienced in criminal cases. "We are still living under the legend of the Wild West where action was the easiest solution. On the frontier, settlers solved their problems with the gun."

Violence was not only commonplace in the Old West but came with the immigrants from the Old World. "We arrived here by way of revolution," said Dr. Thaddeus Kostrubala of Chicago, a member of the American Psychiatric Association's Task Force on Aggression and Violence.

"They say we are a melting pot," said Abrahamsen. "We're not a melting pot. We're a society that is not built on the restraints of family or class. It's built on success. If you don't have it, you're frustrated."

Frustration, the wet nurse of violence.

"Students at Columbia are frustrated, so they seize the university," said Abrahamsen. "Negroes are frustrated, so they riot."

Violence gains currency. But what brings from the frustrated many the few, the assassins? "They think of themselves as avenging angels," said Dr. Jacob Chwast, a New York psychologist. "They are destroying some one they think threatens them and the people they feel they represent. Such people are very vulnerable to the stimulation of a public appearance by a national figure."

Sen. Kennedy was shot at a victory celebration... his brother in a parade... Lincoln at a theater... Malcolm X at a rally...

"Public figures are symbols of what America stands for," said Abrahamsen.

Most Russians are convinced that the murder of President Kennedy was a result of a right-wing conspiracy. They scorn the Warren Commission findings that the President was shot by Lee Harvey Oswald, a left-wing malcontent who spent several years in the Soviet Union.

President Kennedy was admired in the Soviet Union, particularly in the last months of his life following his American University speech in the summer of 1963 urging friendly relations between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. Many Russians cried when they learned of his assassination.

LBJ Orders Bodyguards For Major Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson outreached his legal powers Wednesday to put Secret Service bodyguards around all major presidential aspirants and their families. And Congress moved in haste to supply the legal authority by Thursday.

At 1 p.m., EDT, less than nine hours after the shooting in a Los Angeles hotel of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the White House announced that Secret Service details had joined all the candidates.

The shocked President overrode "legalisms," a White House spokesman said, to act almost immediately after he was awakened at 3:31 a.m. by news of the attempted assassination.

Secret Service agents promptly joined Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, loser to Kennedy in the close California primary on Tuesday. Details were dispatched to these other candidates for the Republican and Democratic nominations.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. Agents also were assigned to former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, who is running as an independent.

Vice President Hubert H.

Humphrey already had such protection but the security around him was tightened. He canceled a convocation speech at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs to return to Washington.

The congressional machinery was greased for rapid action. Presidential press secretary George Christian said Johnson asked three weeks ago for funds and money simply because he felt that "genuine candidates ought to be afforded Secret Service protection." Senate hearings had been held, in secret session.

The Senate Appropriations Committee voted unanimously by noon today after a meeting of congressional leaders with Johnson at the White House to add $2 million to the Treasury appropriation bill for expansion of the Secret Service.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D. Okla., chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee, predicted there will be no difficulty obtaining Senate approval of the amendment Thursday.

The chairman of the corresponding House subcommittee, Rep. Tom Stead, D. Okla., predicted that the House—which already has passed the Treasury appropriation bill—will provide emergency funds if needed.

Muscovites Call Country Nation of 'Barbarians'

(c) N.Y. Times News Service MOSCOW — "What a frightening country," Muscovites exclaimed Wednesday when they learned of the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Barbarians!" shouted a young Russian intellectual when the first report of the shooting was broadcast early Wednesday afternoon.

"All you Americans can do is shoot one another!" said a middle-aged woman who works in a downtown Moscow office.

For many Russians, the news of the attempt on Senator Kennedy's life seemed to confirm the widespread impression of the United States as a land of deep internal hostilities, violence and sinister political intrigues.

Muscovites approached in streets and parks expressed a belief that the shooting of Senator Kennedy was another development of a broad right-wing political conspiracy that, in their view, was behind the assassination of President Kennedy in 1963.

"Someone does not want Senator Kennedy to carry on the policies of his brother," said a 40-year-old man from Leningrad strolling in Red Square with friends.

Most Russians are convinced that the murder of President Kennedy was a result of a right-wing conspiracy. They scorn the Warren Commission findings that the President was shot by Lee Harvey Oswald, a left-wing malcontent who spent several years in the Soviet Union.

The Kennedy family had been regarded with sympathy and interest since the assassination and, for many Russians, Senator Kennedy inherited the popularity of his brother.

Kennedy won an extra degree of sympathy in recent months because of his opposition to President Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

A young blond teacher escorted a group of youngsters through the Kremlin this evening said:

"I feel very sorry for the American people, Robert Kennedy seemed to be a man of peace. We don't know what he would really do if he was elected President, but we believe he was sincere." Other Russians in Red Square echoed this view.

Suspicion of a political conspiracy was the first reaction of many Muscovites when they learned of today's shooting.

Several persons, recalling that Oswald was shot in the Dallas jail two days after he had assassinated President Kennedy, predicted that Senator Kennedy's assailant likewise would be murdered to silence him.

Steel Talks Will Resume June 24 in Pittsburgh

NEW YORK (AP) — Three days of general discussion of basic steel contract problems at the national level concluded Wednesday with industry and labor officials joining in a minute of silent prayer for the swift recovery of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

I. W. Abel, president of the 1.2-million-member United Steelworkers of America and a member of President Johnson's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, in a final joint news conference with chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper, deplored the new violence against a member of the Kennedy family.

"Out of these things comes the man on the white horse... and we all lose our rights," Abel said of the violence. "The labor movement is the first to lose its rights."

Both Abel and Cooper said the federal government had not contacted them in the present bargaining, which began April 15 at the local level.

They said they did not expect to return to New York during the remainder of the effort to reach agreements for 400,000 workers at the 11 largest basic steel companies before the end of July contract expirations and "hope" not to be summoned to Washington, D.C.

The talks, expected to set the pattern for 200,000 other basic steel workers outside production and maintenance or in smaller companies, will resume on the industrywide level June 24 in Pittsburgh, Pa., when hard bargaining is expected to begin.

Company-level talks which started May 16 will enter the hard bargaining stage next Monday and conclude June 21 at local management headquarters: Allegheny Ludlum, Jones & Laughlin, Pittsburgh Steel and United States Steel in Pittsburgh; Armco in St. Louis; Bethlehem Steel in New York; Chicago Fuel & Iron in Denver; Republic in Cleveland; Youngstown Sheet & Tube in Youngstown, Ohio; National in Detroit and Inland in Chicago.

Plant-by-plant negotiations have disposed of most of 15,000 local issues, but the parties must cope with "several thousand" still unresolved in order to complete new agreements.

PIDA Approves Thirteen New Agencies

HARRISBURG (AP) — Thirteen industrial development agencies, including the state's first Negro industrial development corporation, received tentative approval Wednesday for loans from the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (PIDA).

Clifford L. Jones, secretary of Commerce and PIDA board chairman, said 15 separate projects were approved, which would create an estimated 1,307 new jobs and $9,797,000 in annual payrolls.

They included: Washington — Washington Industrial Development Corp., $100,000, to construct a building for a new manufacturer; 51 new jobs and $345,000 in annual payrolls.

Somerset — Somerset Area Development Association, $120,000, to construct a building addition for R. E. Uptegraft Manufacturing Co., a previously financed PIDA project; 26 new jobs and $190,000 in annual payrolls.

Waynesburg — Greene County Industrial Developments, Inc., $168,000, to enable Greenway Manufacturing Co. to expand local operations; 105 new jobs and $400,000 in annual payrolls.

The following loan applications were given final approval: Edinboro — Edinboro Area Industrial Development Corp., $18,600, for new building for Makro Manufacturing Co., 25 new jobs and $100,000 in annual payrolls.

Somerset — Somerset County Development Council, $356,860, to construct new building for White Cross Shoes, Inc.; 115 new jobs and $480,000 in annual payrolls.

Altoona — Altoona Enterprises Inc., $800,000 to be used to help in construction of new building for Proctor Siles, Inc., 800 new jobs and $3,200,000 in annual payrolls.

The Athlete's Garland

(C) N.Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK — Ever since Marianne Moore fulfilled a life-long ambition by throwing out the ceremonial first ball at Yankee Stadium this season, poets have begun reconsidering the allegorical potential in the shortstop-second baseman relationship and the professional leagues have sent out scouts in search of up-and-coming laureates. An alliance between Sports and Poetry had existed at least since Homer celebrated shifty Odysseus' record shotput in the eighth book of the Odyssey, but the bonds were weakened in recent years when Cassius Clay campaigned with verse for the heavyweight championship.

These days, the professional ballplayer's book for the road is a small, slim, hard-to-get "Collection of Verse of Sport and Pastime" called The Athlete's Garland, compiled by Wallace Rice and published in 1905 by A. C. McClurg & Co. It includes this stanza from "Ballad of the Pigskin," a work dedicated to Amos Alonzo Stagg by Horace Spencer Fiske: "Then from out the mass of strugglers, like a comet from its course,

Shoots a runner on a tangent, with a catapultic force;
And the field spreads fair before him as the path to Paradise,
And his soul leaps up to win it at the dearest sacrifice;
For he hears the yelling people and a mighty stride behind,
And he hopes to live forever in the football heart enshrined,
Not all poets view sports so romantically. Rudyard Kipling, for example, had this to say in "Golf":

Why Golf is Art and Art is Golf we have not far to seek —
So much depends upon the lie, so much upon the creak.

In a parody called "The Golfer's Rubayat," Henry W. Boynton writes:

The swinging brassie strikes; and, having struck,
Moves on; nor all your wit or future luck
Shall lure it back to cancel half a stroke,
Nor from the card a single seven pluck.

While some poets reach wildly for those high and outside concrete universals, others offer solid performance tips, as witness this stanza from William Lindsey's "The Hammer Throw":

Our fingers twine the handle tightly round,
Firm as a mountain oak we plant our feet,
With one long breath, filling each cell complete,
We lift and swing the dead weight from the ground.
Lindsey is obviously an incurable track and field buff, but his interest lies not so much with the weight men as with the sprinters. In "The Hundred Yard Dash" he writes:

Give me a race that is run in a breath,
Straight from the start to the tape:
Distance hath charms, but a "ding-dong" means death,
Death without flowers and crape.

The Poet — in this case, R. C. Lehmann — is the first to celebrate the athlete's debt to his equipment, as in this opening stanza:

Farewell, dear companion of labor and pastime,
My hands shall encircle your handle no more.
This day on the Thames we were joined for the last time,
Our last racing stroke has been rowed, O my oar.

There are athletes who compete for love of competition, others for love of money, and some, such as Robert Herrick, in "Stool-Ball," who compete for love alone. The great Cavalier poet writes:

At stool-ball, Lucia, let us play
For sugar cakes and wine;
Or for a tansy let us pay,
The loss, or thine, or mine.

Wallace Rice, the anthologist, has the last word, and rains out the game with this final stanza from his "Time, the Victor":
No runner hath outstripped oblivion;

No thrower hurled his mortal strain afar;
No swimmer gained salvation from time's wave;
No wrestler his dim future seized and thrown;
No vaulter brushed his locks 'gainst any star;
No leaper leaped that little gulf, the grave!

Wattsburg Speedway Plans Opening Day

Wattsburg Speedway has completed plans for a big opening day Friday. The track is located on Route 89 on the Wattsburg Fair Grounds.

Delays in opening the track have been numerous, the operators said, with weather the biggest factor. The heavy schedule of racing set for the previous week was an added deterrent.

Track officials said it is almost impossible for drivers, who have regular jobs, to prepare their cars for five straight nights of racing and put on their best show.

Almost all of the well-known drivers will appear, as well as a few new ones. Chuck Vorse's No. 37 will be seen in the late model and sportsmen's classes. He will be driving a 1968 Camaro. Jim Sul will be the driver for Dizzy Eades' 1967 Chevrolet, while Mike Shatto will drive a new Javelin.

A newcomer in the sportsmen's field, Jay Plyler, will drive No. 79, which is reported to be an outstanding example of craftsmanship. Plyler is highly rated by his co-drivers and is considered a driver out to win.

Speedway officials have invited the public to drop into the pits after the races and talk with drivers and mechanics. Especially recommended are the pits where sportsmen's models are serviced.

Drivers enjoy meeting fans, track officials said, and explaining how the cars run. Fans have been asked to make special note of the sharp metal-flake blue of Skip Furlow's car, No. 40.

County Golf Scores Told

Joe Brindis shot a 37 for low score as the Warren County Golf League had its seventh week of matches. Joe Scalise and Dan Lucia had 39s, while Sam Scalise had a 40, according to figures released by Boots Smith, league statistician.

Team scores follow: Warren Beverage, 4½; Brennan Root, 7½; New Process, 3½; Warren Water, 8½; Genesee, 8½; Jamestown Pub, 3½; Crescent Distributors, 8½; DeLuxe Metal, 3½; Sunray Products, 7; J.B. Connolly's, 5; Tomassoni Nursery, 7; Struthers Wells, 5; Soda Mineral, 6; Penn Distributors, 6; Walt's Shoe Store, 4; Warren Insurance, 8; R. Johnson, Realtor, 8; Reliable Furniture, 4.

A STUDY IN CONCENTRATION

Bob Lunn is a study in concentration as he grimaces his way to victory in the Atlanta Golf Classic. The Sacramento, Calif., golfer missed his birdie on this putt, but went on to victory in the tournament.

Ike Girls Finish First In Southwestern Invite

SOUTHWESTERN — The Eisenhower Knights won the Southwestern High School girls invitational track meet here last night as they were victorious in eight of the eleven events and placed in all but one event, to triumph over the eight other schools participating. Penny Park started out the Ike winning streak by capturing the 50-yd. dash with a time of 6.7 and tying the school mark in the trials by running 6.5. Diane Ludwick came through for the Knights in the 440 as she paced a 70.0 quarter-mile to take top honors. The Blue and Gold female 440 team remained undefeated for the season as Diane Brecht, Ludwick, Denise Carlson and Park handed off for a 58.7 reading.

The field was also dominated by Ike as Linda York hurled the softball 178-feet 10-inches for a new school record. York also came through in the basketball throw heaving the round ball 73-feet for another first. Brecht won the high jump with a leap of 4-feet 5-inches while Kathy Nesmith tied for the long jump with a mark of 13-feet 10-inches. The second spot in the 880 yd. run went to Nesmith while Martha Backstrom finished third for Ike. Brecht also captured a third spot in the 100 yd. dash, Marilla Norton placed third in the discus for Ike and Marcia Fish netted a third spot in the 440 yd. dash.

The Ike tracksters have shown real enthusiasm this year in the cinder sport by breaking 12 of the 17 existing girls' records. A tough schedule of summer competition is planned for the athletes with meets at Alfred, Hornell, Buffalo and Pittsburgh on the slate.

An unfinanced sport must find some way to obtain funds, thus the energetic runners have held one "old and used" book sale, earning enough money to buy eight pairs of track spikes. A book sale is planned for Jamesway this weekend where the girls hope to make enough money to buy a dozen sweat suits for training and competition.

Team results from the meet follows: Eisenhower 46, Southwestern 30, Cassadaga 12, Falconer 9, Jamestown 7, Maple Grove 7, Forestville 6, Frewsburg 5, and Panama 4.

Snead in Indy Open

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Sam Snead, who shot a four-under-par 68 on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway golf course May 29 in a rainstorm, will attack it for the first time for big money in the ninth $100,000 Speedway Open starting Thursday.

The tourney, one of the 500 festival attractions stemming from the Memorial Day auto race, is being played on a three-year-old course which is in top condition.

The event started out on an old public course, nine holes of which were inside the track, and the pros made fantastic scores over the short, flat layout.

Golf architect Bill Diddel designed the new one and score cards have been less impressive every year since.

Slo-Pitch Has 3 Games

Local 469, the Surf Club and the Sub Shop registered wins in the Slo-Pitch League Wednesday night.

Scores were: Local 469, 12, R. V. Norris 10, Surf Club 8, Sheffield 3, Sub Shop 16, DeVore Keystone 2. Local 469 outthrew Norris 22 hits to nine hits, Jack Colvin and Denny Owens were the winning battery, Engle lost the game. He was relieved by Smith. Rosenquist was the Norris catcher.

Art "Catfish" Zerbe pitched and won for the Surfers. Tim "Blue Moon" Dahler relieved. Lee Goldthwaite was the loser. Zerbe had two for two, Bob Sequist had two for three for Surf, and batted in four runs. Jim Johnson homered and Davidson doubled for Sheffield. Jim Ostergard pitched and Covey Greenwood caught for the Sub Shop, while Gary Rain pitched and lost for DeVore's. Homers were hit by Charlie McDermott and Bob Barney of the Subs, and Gene Rolls for DeVore's. Jim Olsen tripled for DV. There were five doubles.

Jones Given Kane Award

James Jones, son of Myles E. Jones, of Kane, received the Coaches' Award for outstanding athlete of the year for Kane Area Junior High School. Selection was made by votes of both junior and senior high school coaches.

Jones is 15 years old, and was outstanding in football, basketball and track.

James Jones' father, Myles E. Jones, was graduated from Sheffield High School in 1949.

Gonzales Reaches Semifinals In French Tennis Open

PARIS (AP) — Pancho Gonzales, a semifinalist in the French Tennis Championships 19 years ago, reached the round of four again Wednesday by edging Australian Roy Emerson in a five-set quarter-final.

The 40-year-old Californian beat the recently turned pro, 7, 5, 6-3, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, in the completion of a match halted by rain after three sets Tuesday.

Gonzales recalled that he had lost to Budge Patty in the French semifinals in 1949. That was the year he won the U.S. title at Forest Hills for the second time and then turned professional.

"I never thought I would be back here again with a chance to make the final," said Gonzales. "Thank heavens for Open tennis."

Blueberry Has Flag Tourney

Blueberry Hill has released the results of its Memorial Day Flag tourney.

Winners were:

No. 2 green, Bill Colgrove; No. 1 green, Gene Pring, Bill Meno, John Guthrie, Dick Hines; No. 18 hole, Chuck Rowland, Jim Potter. Eighteenth hole — 6' — Cliff Graham; 12' — John Clark; 36' — Larry Anderson; 12' — Tom Christy; 18' — Al Albright; 40' — DeLeo Reiff; 80' — Lou Vescio.

The semifinals will be an all-pro affair. Gonzales will meet top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia and Aussie Ken Rosewall will oppose Andres Gimeno of Spain.

Two pros, Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Ann Jones of England, and two amateurs, Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Mrs. Annette DuPlooy of South Africa, reached the women's semifinals.

The American arch-rivals, Mrs. King and Miss Richey, will clash in a semifinal.

Mrs. King beat Brazil's Maria

Bueno, another old rival of the amateur days, 6-4, 6-4. Miss Richey, now the No. 1 American amateur, trounced Mexico's Elena Sibirats, 6-1, 6-0. Mrs. Jones was very impressive in disposing of Mrs. Valsta Vopkova of Czechoslovakia, 6-2, 6-1. Mrs. DuPlooy downed Australian Gail Sheriff, 8-6, 6-3.

Gonzales suffered a setback later in doubles when he and Gimeno were upset in the quarter-finals by Romania's Ion Tiriac and Ilie Nastase, 6-3, 6-2, 10-8. It was the first victory in doubles for an amateur team over the pros since open tennis started earlier this year.

CHEVY PICKUPS HAVE MORE INNER STRENGTH!

In fact, only Chevrolet gives you all these tough truck components and features!

ROAD-BALANCED RIDE — Husky coil springs at all four wheels soak up bumps, assure a smooth ride for people and cargo. Standard on ½-ton and ¾-ton models, all-round coil springs team perfectly with Chevy's famed independent front suspension.

LADDER-TYPE FRAME — The same type used on the biggest Chevy haulers. Heavy-gauge channel side rails are riveted to alligator jaw crossmembers. The result is an extra-strong chassis foundation that withstands tough usage.

DOUBLE-WALL CARGO BOX — Fleetside pickups have double-wall side panels and tailgate to protect exterior sheet metal from damage caused by shifting loads. You wind up with a pickup that stays new looking longer.

DURABLE CAB CONSTRUCTION — Added strength comes from double-wall construction in roof, cowl, door pillars and sills. Special insulation keeps out heat, cold and noise.

FRONT FENDER LINERS — Major deterrent to rust and corrosion. Smooth contoured design prevents mud build-up. Guards exterior sheet metal from corrosive road splash.

EXTRA WORKPOWER — Six hefty engines provide a wide range of power choices. Two Sixes and four V8's are available. All run on regular gasoline for exceptional operating economy.

Big D Breaks Record, Won't Take Day Off

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirty minutes after Don Drysdale had broken the major league record by pitching his sixth straight scoreless game, the Los Angeles Dodgers were asked if he might want an extra day before returning to the mound.

"Now," drawled Drysdale in matter of fact fashion, "I'll take my regular turn Saturday night."

Pitching is strictly a business with Big D, who has missed only three starting turns since he became a Dodger regular in 1957.

The 31-year-old right-hander blanked Pittsburgh Tuesday night on three hits, 5-0, to break a record that had stood since 1904.

The mark of five straight scoreless games was set that year by a Chicago White Sox pitcher, Doc White, now 89 and living in Silver Springs, Md. Tom Haller, the Dodgers' catcher, who is not given to flowery speech, declared, "This was a great moment in baseball history. I don't think anyone will do it again."

Drysdale in the process broke the National League record for consecutive scoreless innings—46 1-3 by Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1933.

The major league record in this department—which involves innings pitched in relief—is 56, set by Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators in 1913.

Drysdale, with 54 scoreless innings immediately behind, can aim at this—if not a seventh full game blank job—against Philadelphia in Dodger Stadium Saturday night.

A co-hero of the Drysdale heroics before 30,422 in Dodger Stadium was rookie second baseman Paul Popovich. Popovich contributed two outstanding defensive plays, the most valuable one in throwing out ex-Dodger Maury Wills in the sixth inning to deprive Pittsburgh of a run.

It was Popovich who threw out Willie Stargell to retire the side in the ninth, with the same Wills roosting on first.

Patterson Out Of Ring's Top 10

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, has been dropped from the top ten ratings by Ring Magazine because of inactivity.

In the reshuffled ratings behind Cassius Clay, still recognized as world champion, Leotis Martin of Philadelphia replaced Patterson and moved into the No. 6 spot on his knockout over Thad Spencer.

Bob Foster of Washington, who won the light-heavyweight title by knocking out Dick Tiger, is cited as Fighter of the Month.

In the other major change, Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy has become the No. 1 contender to Nino Benvenuti, the middle-weight king.

YAZ SMILES AS BATTING AVERAGE CLIMBS

Carl Yaztremski finds it easy to smile for the cameraman these days as his batting average goes up and he can again set his sights on Baseball's triple crown. Yaz won the triple crown and most valuable player awards last year, while playing with the American League champion Boston Red Sox. He again hopes to bring the Sox home in first place and get himself a second World Series ring. The Red Sox, after a rocky start as defending American League champions, have begun to pick up and are again considered a contender in the quest for the league pennant. Injuries to Tony Conigliaro, on the baseball diamond, and to Jim Lonborg, on the ski slopes, have been partially compensated by outstanding play on the part of other members of the team. The abrasive personality of Manager Dick Williams, which helped the team in its pennant fight last year, seemed to do little good when the club was losing.

Fryman Wins Fifth in Row

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Left-hander Woody Fryman pitched a six-hitter and won his fifth straight game Wednesday, as the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the San Francisco Giants 2-1.

Fryman, 8-4, received all the support he needed when the Phillies scored two runs—one unearned—in the first inning off loser Gaylord Perry, 6-3.

Cookie Rojas singled, stole second, went to third on a groundball and scored the first run on Tony Gonzalez's sacrifice fly. Singles by John Callison and Bill White and second baseman Nate Oliver's error gave the Phils another run.

Willie Mays' 10th home run of the season opened the second inning and was the first earned run off Fryman in 38 1-3 innings.

Mets Tip Cubs, Seaver Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—Pitcher Tom Seaver's leadoff single ignited a three-run fifth inning as the New York Mets handed the Chicago Cubs a second straight defeat 4-2 Wednesday.

Seaver, limited to a starvation diet of just 19 runs in his first 11 starts, picked up his third victory and his first since May 16, a five-time loser, the Mets' youthful right-hander needed relief help from Cal Koonce to nail down the victory.

Seaver left the game in the eighth when he pulled a muscle in his left side while pitching to Ron Santo.

After Seaver's single, Cleon Jones followed with his second double. Ken Boswell fanned for the first out, and New York loaded the bases when catcher Jerry Grote was walked intentionally.

Glenn Beckert fumbled J.C. Martin's roller for an error, Seaver scoring. Jones got across on Ed Charles' force play roller, and Ron Swoboda's single scored Grote.

NBA Adopts 82-Game Sked

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The National Basketball Association have adopted another 82-game schedule for 1968-69 while owners discussed a possible review of long-range expansion plans.

Owners from the league's 14 cities began the annual two-day meeting which ends Wednesday.

The board of governors approved the schedule, which will have each club playing each other six times—three home and three away—for 78 games. Four other games will be scheduled for each team within its own division.

The four newest teams—Milwaukee, Phoenix, San Diego and Seattle—will schedule the extra four games with each other as much as possible.

The league also: —Announced record season attendance of 3,649,511, which is 17 per cent more than 1966-67. Half the increase was attributed to two new clubs.

Mets Have First Pick In Free Agent Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Mets will have first pick in Thursday's free agent draft of schoolboy and college baseball talent and the four new expansion clubs also will participate.

Before the two-day draft is completed Friday afternoon well over 1,000 players are expected to be selected by the 20 clubs currently operating plus Montreal, San Diego, Seattle and Kansas City.

The free agent crop consists of high school seniors who were graduated this spring, college seniors and those who have become 21. Players who were selected previously but did not sign have been thrown back into a pool and will be picked in the secondary phase, as contrasted to the regular phase. Each of the 20 big league teams now playing will take one man in the first round. Each of the 20 Class Triple A farm clubs will take one and each of the 20 Class Double A farms will take one. The four expansion teams will not participate in those three rounds.

When they get down to Class A, where there are unlimited selections, the four expansion clubs finally will get a chance.

However, they will follow the original 20. Thus, Montreal will be 21st in the Class A rounds (actually 81st in the over-all draft), Seattle No. 22, San Diego No. 23 and Kansas City No. 24. As big league teams draft in inverse order of their 1967 finishes, the Mets will be followed by the Oakland A's, who were last in the American League a year ago at Kansas City.

Bill Termed 'Major Milestone' In State Insurance Reform

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer signed a bill Wednesday aimed at preventing insurance companies from arbitrarily denying coverage to motorists. The legislation would prohibit a company from cancelling or refusing to write or renew auto insurance solely because of a person's age, residence, occupation, race, creed or national origin. Shafer said the bill was a "major milestone" in his administration's legislative effort to bring about insurance reform in Pennsylvania. Under the new legislation, auto insurance may be cancelled for only two reasons — non-payment of premium or loss of driving privilege through suspension or revocation. When a sailor talks about "knots," he is talking about a measure of speed, not distance. Canned grasshoppers are eaten in certain places in the Orient.

Mellon Bank Is Robbed Of $1,955

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A short, stocky man with a gun jammed into his trouser waist robbed a Mellon Bank of $1,955 Wednesday and fled in a car driven by another man. A Mellon spokesman noted a resemblance between the description of the holdup man and a man who robbed another Mellon bank on the North Side earlier in the week. Even his hold-up method was similar.

The gunman, about 5-foot-7 and weighing around 170 pounds, walked into a Mellon office on the city's South Side and handed teller Rita Meggs a penciled note.

"This is a holdup!" the note read. "Don't call police for 10 minutes..."

Mrs. Meggs handed the man some money and, when she hesitated, he demanded more and flipped back a corner of his jacket, exposing the butt of a pistol at his waist. Mrs. Meggs then placed more money on the counter.

The man stuffed the currency into his pockets and fled, followed by Assistant Manager Joseph Wuerl and a woman employee. They saw him jump into a car and ride away with another man.

In the North Side robbery on Monday, a short and stocky man got $557 from the Mellon Workington's office. That robber also flipped open his jacket to show a pistol sticking in his waist.

Schools Closed After Sit-In Demonstration

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Officials closed Gladstone elementary and secondary schools today after a sit-in demonstration, mostly by Negro pupils, disrupted classes.

"It apparently was a sit-in demonstration for Westinghouse High students," a school board spokesman said. "They refused to go to classes, and after school was dismissed, there was vandalism outside the building. They were breaking windows and throwing stones...that sort of thing."

It marked the third time in four school days that officials have had to dismiss classes at a Pittsburgh school. A demonstration at virtually all-Negro Westinghouse last Friday forced the school to close. The school closed early again Tuesday after a meeting between pupils and school officials became rowdy.

Westinghouse pupils are demanding the teaching of more Negro history and the dismissal of "white racist" teachers.

Gladstone in the city's Hazelwood and Glenwood sections has 1,325 pupils in the elementary through high school grades. The school spokesman said 45 per cent of the enrollment is Negro.

Black leaders angry over the Westinghouse trouble staged a mock trial Tuesday night in an auditorium where the school board was to hold a public meeting.

The trial concluded just before the meeting started and ended with the verdict that the board was guilty of racism.

Whites and Negroes picketed the homes of some board members after the meeting.

Warren Kiwanis Club Hears Commissioner

TALKS ON HOFFMAN HOME

Taking the Hoffman Home for Children as his subject, Warren County Commissioner Dr. David K. Rice on Wednesday was guest speaker for members of Warren Kiwanis Club. He was introduced by program chairman, John Kloos, right.

Dr. David K. Rice, chairman of the Warren County Commissioners, was guest speaker at Wednesday's Warren Kiwanis Club meeting.

Introduced by John Kloos, program chairman, Dr. Rice spoke about the Hoffman Children's Home.

The speaker touched briefly on the background of the Hoffman Home and some of the controversial matters connected with it, mostly related to financial aspects.

The Hoffman Home, he explained, started back in 1918 when Otis F. Hoffman died leaving in his will the property and assets for homeless children in Warren County. The will was probated in 1922 and part of the clauses in the will were read by Dr. Rice. In 1933 the Home was worth $408,921 most of which was in cash. The total assets of the will now are valued at $490,170.

The Hoffman Home presently has 12 children in its care and is staffed by three adults which currently appears to be sufficient.

No children under school age are taken care of since Hoffman Home is designed primarily for school-age youngsters.

Dr. Rice pointed out that the home is closely affiliated with the Child Welfare Service. The present dilemma facing officials, he said, is this type of institutional care as opposed to foster parents care—which Dr. Rice strongly pointed out is a better plan. The children thrive under "family type atmosphere" better than under institutional upbringing.

Present buildings are greatly in need of repair and remodeling and the major problem is whether to proceed with new buildings or to explore more fully the foster parent idea.

Despite growth in population, the number of children living at Hoffman Home has, over the years, gradually been reduced to an average of six to seven children cared for to a high of 12.

School Board Meets Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the school board of Warren County School District will be held in the board room at 307 Pennsylvania ave., W., at 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 10.

Dr. Thomas K. Barratt, superintendent, said that among the items on the agenda is the 1968-69 school budget.

Immediately following recessing or adjournment of this meeting, there will be a regular monthly meeting of the Warren County Vocational-Technical school board held at the same location.

Warren Youth Appears For Preliminary Arraignment

Alan N. Culbertson, 19, of 7 Brook st., Warren, appeared for preliminary arraignment at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday before Peace Justice Frederick Berry, according to State Police Trooper Mark Golomb of the Warren substation.

Culbertson faces charges on two counts of involuntary manslaughter stemming from the deaths in a March 21 traffic accident on Weller road, which claimed the lives of two other 19-year-old youths, Danny Kurt Phillips, 241 Jackson st., North Warren and Alfred R. (Buddy) Erickson, 323 Oneida ave., Warren.

Golomb stated Culbertson is also charged with driving during a period of license suspension.

Culbertson was released on $250 bond on the driving during suspension charge and on $2,000 bond each on involuntary manslaughter charges.

Accompanied by his attorney, Robert Wolfe, Culbertson requested a hearing which has been set for 11 a.m., Friday, June 14.

Culbertson, alleged to be the driver of the death car at 2:10 a.m., March 21, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and jaw and arm fractures in the accident. He was removed from Warren General Hospital to WCA Hospital in Jamestown, N.Y.

State Employment Shows Gain

HARRISBURG — Employment in Pennsylvania registered a gain of approximately 60,000 jobs from March to April. This job increase exceeded the normal seasonal expectation and brought the total up to 4,689,600, the highest employment total on record for any April, Secretary of Labor and Industry John K. Tabor announced today.

Appreciable seasonal gains were noted in contract construction, retail trade and the service and miscellaneous group. Most other industries recorded favorable movements.

Secretary Tabor called attention to the favorable long-term employment gains, pointing out that the April total was 48,300 higher than a year ago and a very substantial 461,100 above that of five years ago.

Average weekly earnings for production workers in all manufacturing industries dropped $0.97 to a $116.82 level. A gain of two cents in average hourly earnings failed to offset a decline of six-tenths of an hour in the length of the average workweek. The lost working time was largely the result of released time for memorial services for Reverend Martin Luther King. Despite this loss, weekly earnings were $5.38 higher than that of a year ago with a significant over-the-year gain in average hourly earnings.

The police officers took her to St. Vincent Hospital where she was admitted to the psychiatric unit.

Erie police were alerted Sunday night to be on the alert for the escapee who is "considered dangerous."

County Exports Total $3,754,000 For Year Ranging From Plastics to Electronic Components

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)

HARRISBURG—Fifteen Warren County industrial concerns are among 2383 Pennsylvania industries recorded as exporting products to foreign countries, according to an industrial census for 1966 recently completed by the State Department of Internal Affairs.

An exporter is defined by the department as "a Pennsylvania manufacturing establishment exporting $500 or more worth of goods during the year." The total volume of manufactured goods exported by Warren County manufacturing companies during the year amounted to $3,754,000—broken down into $1,281,000 in direct exports, $364,000 exported through intermediaries (exporting companies, banks and wholesalers engaged in foreign trade) and $2,110,000 sold to others for exporting.

(In 1965, according to department records, 24 county firms exported products valued at $3,539,000.)

Warren County firms exported a variety of items including: Sawmill and planing mill products; wood products; wood household furniture, except upholstered; petroleum refining; miscellaneous plastic products; drawing and insulating of nonferrous wire; fabricated plate work (boiler shops); miscellaneous metal work.

Metal stampings; mechanical power transmission equipment; electric lamps; current-carrying wiring devices; electronic components and accessories; production of parts for passenger cars, trucks and buses; engineering, laboratory, and scientific and research instruments and associated equipment.

Insofar as the "port of export," New York City is first on the list of 129 ports with 1422 Pennsylvania exporters using this port. In second place was Philadelphia with 911 exporters; followed by Buffalo, New York, with 540; Baltimore, Maryland, with 344, and Laredo, Texas, with 174. The department noted that each company is counted for each port through which its products are exported.

On the other hand Canada is the favorite country of export with 1575 companies exporting to our Northern neighbor; followed by 585 manufacturers exporting to England; 563 to Puerto Rico; 515 to Mexico, and 485 to Germany.

Police Raid Teen Drinking Party

KANE—State police of the Kane substation and McKean county sheriff's department expected several arrests following a raid early Tuesday at a camp in Liberty township where a juvenile drinking party was being held.

State police said charges of corrupting the morals of minors would be filed against several parents.

Charges of violation of the juvenile drinking law will also be filed, a spokesman added. A quantity of beer and equipment were confiscated at the camp where the party reportedly was held for the graduating class of Port Allegany High School.

Route 6 Bypass Plan Should Be Completed Soon

DISCUSS HIGHWAY PLANS

Current and projected highway plans for Warren County were discussed at a noon luncheon meeting at the Blue Manor Wednesday. The session was sponsored by the transportation committee of Warren County Chamber of Commerce. Pictured, from left, are Bob Bowen, Bowen's Lincoln-Mercury; Jack Lutz, chamber president; Karl Pierson, Betts Machine Co.; Jim Lawson, Sylvania Electric; Victor Miller, borough manager; Sam Loomis, Warren City Lines; Frank Wood, retired; Bob Field, U.S. Forest Service; William Troxell, state highway district engineer, Franklin; Cliff Johnson, transportation committee chairman; Robert Rosser, chief deputy engineer, Harrisburg; Al Osborne, Franklin highway engineer. John Lubus, Forest Service; Samuel F. Bonavita, district attorney and former chairman, borough planning commission; Neil Culbertson, General Concrete Products; Betty Rice, Times-Mirror and Observer; David Potter, WNAE and county planning commission; Kermit Forsgren, Crescent Furniture and president county planning commission; Bill Rusin, county planner; Harry Schryver, Jamestown, N.Y., former manager Jamesway at North Warren. (Photo by Mansfield)

William Troxell, district state highway engineer from Franklin, on Wednesday, stated the proposed Route 6 Warren bypass is actively in the design stage which is expected to be completed the latter part of this year.

Robert Rosser, deputy chief engineer from Harrisburg, however, said a small set-back last week might delay the hoped-for digging of dirt for the bypass this year. While not elaborating on what the problem was, Rosser declared he was still fighting to keep his promise and stated he has not lessened his efforts for the Warren bypass.

Rosser said the state highways department is in "bad shape financially" at this particular time with some $80 million in federal funds being held up. He emphasized that pressure must be brought to bear on the federal government to release these funds which the state has coming and which are already invoiced. These funds, he added, are not included in the federal cut-back of highway monies.

At present, Rosser said, the state is not able to pay their highway contractors, and unless the firms will continue to work without payment, there would likely be a work stoppage—even on construction of the Youngsville bypass.

Troxell advised that efforts in Franklin, while concentrating on the first section of the Warren bypass from its connection with the Youngsville portion west of Warren to Ludlow street interchange, other sections are also in design.

He said the Franklin office is anxious to establish a condemnation pattern for the bypass so they could move in and acquire needed properties. Acquisition, he added, would be kept to the minimum where possible.

The Market street bridge is in design, Troxell said, but Market street extension may have to wait until it can feasibly connect with the bypass since the terrain makes an interchange in that area difficult.

Troxell noted his department would be meeting with and working closely with Army Engineers in regard to a problem of fill to be taken from the Allegheny River at the proposed Main avenue intersection. He urged local representation at these sessions to express local views.

In final design, according to Troxell, is Route 62 north to the Russell intersection. He stated, however, that following a consultation last week with members of the planning commission and other area representatives, he is almost convinced that some changes in design are necessary.

The proposed Route 62 north from Sixth avenue, will be expanded to four lanes with adherence to a safety criteria calling for a median strip and median barrier to avoid possible crossovers and head-on collisions. Troxell termed the present three-lane a bad piece of engineering design. In the area of Conewango Valley Country Club, relocation of Route 62 will require securing a right-of-way from New York Central Railroad.

The new highway, it was pointed out, would include the siding crossing that serves West Penn Oil Co.

In eyeing high priority highways for an additional two year program, Troxell stressed Hatch Run Road from Route 62 north, across Conewango Creek, up the valley with a tie in on Scandia road, east to connect with the improved section built by army engineers to the New York State line.

Troxell said there could be a relocation of LF 61037, crossing to Hemlock and over the Allegheny to tie in south of Kinzua Dam.

Another high priority listed by the district engineer would be improvement to LR 88 from Pittsfield to the Youngsville bypass to move traffic west of Youngsville.

All these jobs, Troxell advised are in the planning stage.

The district engineer said Wednesday that he hopes two lanes of the Youngsville bypass will be in operation this year, although weather has held up construction this spring.

These priorities will be presented to the state highway commission during a meeting here July 10. Troxell stressed the need for access to recreational facilities on the west shore of Allegheny Reservoir and said if the highway commission sees the present roads they'll be better able to understand what the problems are.

Borough manager Victor L. Miller, in anticipating construction of the Warren bypass with traffic to be detoured through the borough, requested the district office to work with him to determine where the detour will go. This would be necessary, Miller said, to get some bad curbs set back and funds budgeted for necessary roadwork before construction of the bypass starts.

Al Osborne, engineer from the Franklin office, was delegated to present such a plan in the near future.

Wednesday's noon meeting, chaired by Clifford Johnson, chairman of Warren County Chamber of Commerce transportation committee, was attended by other committee members along with representatives of U.S. Forest Service, planning commission, local industry and other business groups.

Coordinated efforts were urged at the session.

Contract Signed for Youngsville VFD Building

A contract has been signed by the Youngsville Volunteer Fire Department for the steel framework of their new building as the first step toward construction of the community facility.

The members of the department and community helpers are presently campaigning for funds to construct the steel, cement block structure with garage bays, radio room and recreation facilities.

Rough grading and steel framing are scheduled to begin immediately. The steel framing will include a steel decked roof and hose tower.

To date returns total $107,389 toward a goal of $125,000 as announced by Robert V. Thompson, general chairman. A "telethon" previously scheduled by the foreman's auxiliary, has been cancelled. All residents will be personally contacted by department workers.

A final report dinner for all the campaign workers will be served Saturday in the fire hall. The dinner is being served at 6 p.m. by the auxiliary.

Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

THE MONTH OF JUNE IS UPON US ---- the time when the stirring music of the wedding procession from Wagner's Lohengrin, and the wedding march from Mendelssohn's Midsummer Night's Dream is heard in churches and chapels all over the land! Life is just beginning for the happy brides and grooms, but what about the brides of years gone by? Is the romanticism of their Wedding Day forgotten? As the anniversaries accrue, one upon the other, what do they celebrate (aside from the great blessings of a happy hearth, home and family)? Each anniversary has a special symbol of its own, carrying the romance of that first Wedding Day down through the years ---- some symbols are more practical than romantic, I must admit, but after all, it is the thought that counts ---- and this is how it goes: 1st - paper, plastics; 2nd - cotton; 3rd - leather; 4th - linen, silk, or synthetic silks; 5th - wood; 6th - iron; 7th - wool, copper, or brass; 8th - bronze, or electrical appliances; 9th - pottery, china; 10th - tin or aluminum; 11th - steel; 12th - again, its linen, silk, etc.; 13th - lace; 14th - ivory, or agate; 15th - crystal, or glass; 20th - china; 25th - silver; 30th - pearls; 35th - coral or jade; 40th - rubies or garnets; 45th - sapphires, or tourmalines; 50th - gold; 55th - emeralds, or turquoise; 60th - diamonds, or gold; 75th - again, diamonds, or gold.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I respond to "Single And Glad Of It"? She wrote as follows: "Show me a man, either single or married; sick, well or dying, who would turn down sex and I will happily eat the Sunday edition of the New York Times." I would like to say, "Start nibblin', dear heart." I married a man who has the sex drive of a dead battery. My sisters drew the same kind.

You suggest that these "disinterested" males go to a doctor and find out what is wrong. A fine suggestion, but what if they won't go? Furthermore I am 99 per cent certain that the problem is not physical but mental. My "dead battery" is healthy as a horse. I can't recall the last time he had a headache. What about this, Ann Landers? Am I right or wrong?—BABY IT'S COLD IN THE HOUSE

DEAR BABY: You are probably right. The vast majority of "disinterested" men have no organic problem. But it's always advisable to go to a physician and make sure.

When no organic problem is present a husband should accept the fact that he has an emotional problem. He owes it to his wife as well as to himself to see a therapist and get rid of the hornet in his helmet.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teen-age girl with a problem as big as the world.

My mother told me when I was a little girl that she had been married for a short time (when she was very young) to a man who didn't treat her right. She divorced him and married my father.

Yesterday I was going through my father's desk drawers to find an insurance policy he asked me to get for him. I ran across TWO sets of divorce papers. It seems that my father was also divorced. His first wife's name was one I had never heard of before. This divorce took place the same week my mother got her divorce.

I want to ask my mother about it but I don't know how. Do you feel I have a right to know or should I just keep quiet and hope one day she will tell me?—CONFUSED AND BITTER

DEAR CONFUSED: Children are entitled to know about the previous marriages of their parents. Don't ask your mother—ask your father.

I've said it before and I think it bears repeating. Skeletons, when they fall out of a closet, make some rather embarrassing sounds. Are you listening, folks?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'll come right to the point, I am dating a very interesting girl. Susan is brainy, witty and we have a terrific time together—just talking. Her conversation crackles and snaps and pops. But there is a problem: Her neck is always dirty. This is not a gag. I'm dead serious. What's your advice?—BKG ERN

DEAR ERN: Silence can be effective. On Calvin Coolidge it looked good. But in a situation such as this, it's dumb to keep quiet. Tell Susan her jewelry appears to be discoloring her neck and you hope she'll scrub a little harder. If she's as bright as you say, she'll clean herself up.

United Methodist Church To Hold 4-Day Conference

Ministerial and lay delegates from the 780 churches of the United Methodist Western Pennsylvania Conference (formerly Methodist) will convene in Grove City for their annual conference on June 18-21.

The four-day meeting will be held at Grove City College, with sessions starting at 1 p.m. Tuesday and running through 4 p.m. Friday.

Bishop Frederick B. Newell, resident head of the United Methodist Pittsburgh area, will head the annual conference for the last time. After two and a half years of service since succeeding the late Bishop W. Vernon Middleton, he will return to retirement.

Bishop F. Gerald Ensley of Columbus, resident head of the Ohio West area, will be the conference speaker. He will deliver addresses at 10:15 a.m. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

At 1 p.m. the conference will open with a combined Communion, Memorial and Covenant Service in Harbison Chapel. Bishop J. Gordon Howard and Bishop Newell will preside.

Dr. D. Frederick Wertz, president of Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa., will be guest speaker at the 7 p.m. Laymen's Hour in Harbison Chapel. Conference lay leader Paul C. Reynolds of Ellwood City will preside.

The Service of Recognition of Retiring Ministers will be at 7 p.m. Thursday. At 7:30 p.m., twenty-nine ministers, including four women, will be admitted to membership in the Western Pennsylvania Conference "on trial." Eighteen ministers now "on trial" will be admitted to full membership by Bishop Newell.

Highlight of the Thursday sessions will be an Ecumenical Service at 8 p.m. in the Field House with the Rev. Dr. Clarence W. Baldwin, Blairsville District superintendent, in charge. Bishop William G. Comara of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Greensburg will be the guest speaker.

Friday will feature the final business sessions; the conference will conclude with the Ordination Service at 3 p.m. Bishop Newell, assisted by Bishop Raymond L. Archer of Pittsburgh and Bishop Ensley, will officiate. Forty men and women will be ordained. Deacon (first order) in the United Methodist ministry and 29 will be ordained Elder (final order) by the three bishops.

MR. AND MRS. TERRANCE LEE STANTON (Kofod Studio)

Rosina E. Gregg Is Bride Of Terrance Lee Stanton

Rosina Elizabeth Gregg and Terrance Lee Stanton were married on Saturday, June 1 at a nuptial service held in St. Joseph Church. The Rev. Father Norman A. Smith read the double ring rites in the presence of approximately fifty wedding guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Carl E. Gregg of Olson's Mobile Court, 2707 Pennsylvania ave., W. Ext., and the groom is the son of Mrs. Freeda Stanton of 2512 Peach street, Erie.

Organist Carl E. Stout provided the wedding music and altar decorations included white gladioli, mums and arrangements of palms.

Escorted on the arm of her brother, Pierre C. Gregg, the bride appeared in a full length lace styled with fingertip sleeves and rounded cowl collar of satin. Her three tier veil of silk illusion fell from a cluster of organza loops and beaded petals. She carried a round bouquet of white roses.

Miss Sandra Stanton of Grand Rapids, Michigan, sister of the groom, and maid of honor was in pastel blue with matching veil secured by a floral headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with yellow roses. The bridesmaids in mint green and carrying bouquets of daisies were, Mrs. Pierre Gregg, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Jerri Sue Fulmer.

The best man was Rick Huth of Oil City; ushers were Jeffrey Gelnett of Halton, Penna., David Ekis of Marienville, Penna.

The mother of the bride wore a pale yellow three-piece suit with white accessories and a yellow corsage. Mrs. Stanton was in a pastel blue suit with white accessories and also had a yellow rose corsage.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ 3♦ 4NT Pass
5♥ Pass 6NT Pass
Pass Pass

The artificial method for showing aces in response to a Blackwood four no trump bid was used by North to make South the declarer at six hearts, and preserve the partnership from a fatal assault on the opening lead.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West made a preemptive jump overcall of three diamonds. His holding offers little in the way of defense and yet has considerable playing strength. If partner has a few fitting values, the foundation for a profitable sacrifice may be uncovered.

North's hand was worth 20 points including high cards and distribution and he was convinced that the partnership was well within the slam range. He was quite convinced in fact, once South opened the bidding, that the winning of 12 tricks would be routine. The only question in North's mind was whether the opposition was in position to defeat the slam by taking the first two tricks.

From the bidding, it was clear that West's strength was concentrated in diamonds. South was marked with at least two aces to warrant his opening bid, and in all probability—he also had something in spades. His diamond holding then was the key to the slam. North feared that if he became the declarer at six hearts, a diamond lead thru South's holding would prove fatal if the latter did not have the ace.

If North were to make himself the dummy, however, the slam would be safe provided that South held as much as the king in the diamond suit. With West on lead, the opposition could be limited to one trick.

North was willing to gamble that his partner had one of the diamond controls. He, therefore, bid four no trump asking for aces. When South made the expected response of five hearts, showing two aces, North proceeded to slam in the same suit. South was a little surprised at the prospect of becoming the declarer when he only had three hearts, but he felt obliged to rely on his partner's judgment and he accordingly passed.

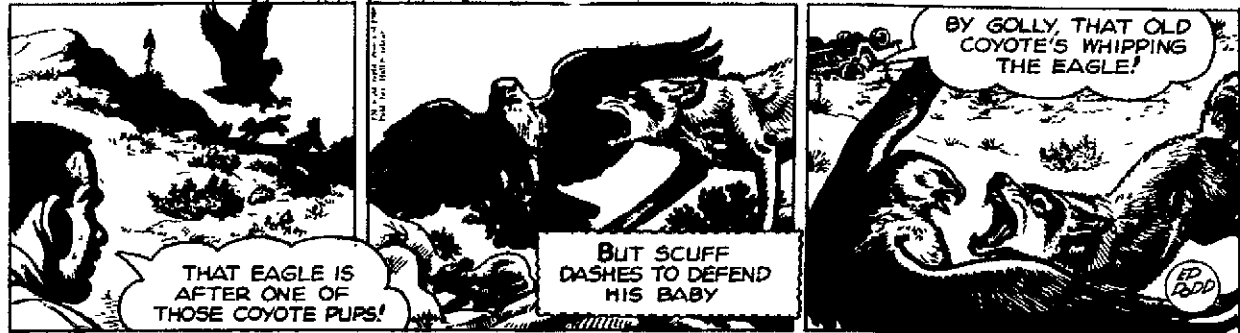

The slam proved to be a laydown, for West could do no better than cash his ace of diamonds. If North is the declarer, it may be observed that a diamond lead would have defeated the slam.

Rep. Allen to Tour Philadelphia School System

Representative William W. Allen will make an extensive tour of the financially distressed Philadelphia school system on Thursday of this week. Representative Allen will be accompanied on the tour by Philadelphia school board president, Richardson Dilworth, and Superintendent of Schools Mark Shedd.

"Every area of the state must develop a better understanding of these urban educational problems, just as we will ask our major cities to understand the many problems of Warren and Forest counties. When I speak to legislators from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, I want them not only to listen but to understand. They deserve no less from me," Dilworth said that "the legislative fact-finding tour would visit ghetto schools, pre-school centers and experimental classrooms. 'We want Bill Allen to see the best and the worst of the Philadelphia school system so that he has an overall picture of the situation,' said Dilworth."

Police Continue Robbery Probe

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Police here are continuing an extensive investigation into an $8,800 robbery by five men wearing white masks who reportedly accosted an elderly businessman at his home.

Edwin A. Jacobson, 75, of 7 Clark st., was robbed of $6,300 in cash and a $2,500 diamond ring late Monday night.

Detectives who questioned Jacobson said the five men rang his doorbell about 11:15 p.m. and burst into the house where they tied the man to the chair. Jacobson said the men told him they were there for his money and he tossed his wallet containing $2,300 into a box in the kitchen but one of the thugs picked it up.

The men used a dish towel to gag Jacobson, tied his hands with a necktie and ripped a cord from a vacuum cleaner to tie him to a kitchen chair.

They pulled a gold-mounted diamond from his finger. Jacobson was alone at the time, his wife being in the hospital.

Detectives reported the men ransacked the house and found another $4,000 in a cedar chest in an upstairs bedroom.

Jacobson, who is president of the J.A. Jacobson Co., a local wholesale tobacco firm, pulled himself free from his bonds about 15 minutes after the men left and called police from a neighbor's home. The telephone line to the Jacobson residence had been cut.

The robbery victim told detectives the thugs may have been in their 20s and said they wore some kind of white cloth with eye-holes over their heads.

Police, Security Guard Posted To Protect Arab Ambassadors

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Special New York city police and United Nations security forces were posted Wednesday night to protect Arab ambassadors against possible harm following the Kennedy assassination attempt in Los Angeles. Police acted after telephoned threats against Arab envoys were reported in the afternoon.

The man identified as the assassin, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, is of Jordanian Arab origin, but an Arab source here pointed out he has lived in the United States since he was 13, and added: "He's not a Jordanian. He's an American."

Nevertheless, special precautions were taken to protect three Arab ambassadors at a Security Council meeting called urgently for Wednesday evening at the request of both Jordan and Israel on armed attacks and counter-attacks across their borders Tuesday.

The urgencies of that conflict were quickly sidetracked and the 15-nation council adjourned at Arab request after unanimously agreeing to send a message of sympathy to Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, wife of the senator and presidential aspirant shot earlier in the day.

No date was set for the next council session.

The special guard was arranged—city police outside and U.N. forces inside this world diplomatic headquarters—for three ambassadors at the council meeting.

Tewfik Bouattoura of Algeria, Mohammed H. El Farra of Jordan and George J. Tomeh of Syria.

El Farra declined comment on the identification of the assassin as an Arab, but other Arab delegates showed concern lest that create resentment among Americans toward Arabs generally.

Bouattoura, representing the only Arab nation presently on the council, told U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the June president of the council, that adjournment should be taken "because of these sad circumstances" and "despite the urgency of the question" before the council.

It took most council members by surprise. But some Western diplomats said Bouattoura had advised Goldberg beforehand that he would make the suggestion.

They said the Arabs agreed privately on that strategy beforehand. Arab diplomats denied that. But one of them described Bouattoura's move as an act of gallantry, especially since "it's our question that's being postponed."

At the outset of the session Goldberg proposed that the message be sent to Mrs. Kennedy.

Doctor Says Transplant Funds Could Be Used for Therapy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A New Jersey cardiologist said Wednesday the money spent for one heart transplant could provide preventive therapy for hundreds of heart patients.

Dr. Burton M. Cohen, associate professor of clinical medicine, New Jersey College of Medicine, said a heart transplant costs about $50,000. That amount would provide drugs to help control atherosclerosis for 547 patients for a year, he said.

Dr. Cohen was one of the first pioneer experimenters with dextrothyroxine — a drug he says has impeded development of atherosclerosis, known as hardening of the arteries. Untreated atherosclerosis can lead to such serious deterioration of the heart that transplantation may be the only recourse, he said.

Another new drug used to treat chronic heart disease is clofibrate, he said.

At a heart symposium sponsored by Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, Cohen said he had been treating 53 heart patients with dextrothyroxine for more than eight years. More than 40 others have been maintained on the drug for at least two years. During the experiment, only six patients died of chronic heart disease—about half the normal expected rate for such a group, he said.

He said the average reduction of cholesterol was 34.1 per cent. Cholesterol is a waxy substance in the blood that leads to hardening and clogging of the arteries.

Dr. Sheldon R. Bender, Hahnemann cardiologist, said clofibrate is effective in reducing levels of triglyceride — a blood fat.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"You hear it a million times. You can't get a good job without a good education. But you don't realize how true that is until you make the rounds. I did. 8 hours a day. 5 days a week. For 6 lousy months. Without an education, they don't even want to talk to you. Lucky for me, there are all sorts of programs to help kids get more training. I got on one, an on-the-job deal. I had to finish high school first by going nights, because the courses in the program are college courses. And, what with working days, it wasn't easy. But it's better than making peanuts all the rest of your life."

Unpredictable Tragedy Seems to Stalk Kennedy Family

EMERGENCY TREATMENT

For Bobby Kennedy: Always 'Plunge On, Plunge On'

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Robert F. Kennedy, it always has been plunge on, plunge on.

In his public life, from a young government lawyer, to campaign manager, to attorney general, to senator, to his quest for the White House, he has seemed driven by a voice that said plunge on.

It was there even when he relaxed by climbing the roughest mountain, shooting the roughest rapids, skiing the steepest slope.

It was there, too, when with a fixed smile the reserved, essentially shy man plunged into the crowds that mauled his body, ripped off his tie, stole his shoes.

It was from such a crowd that a man with a gun shot Robert Kennedy in the head early Wednesday, minutes after the candidate had addressed supporters celebrating his victory in the California presidential primary.

More than most men, Robert Kennedy knew the physical dangers present in large crowds, having endured the assassination of his older brother, President John F. Kennedy, in Dallas 4½ years ago.

The seventh of nine Kennedy children, Robert Kennedy returned from Navy service to graduate from Harvard in 1948 and from the University of Virginia law school in 1951. He soon went to work as a Justice Department lawyer specializing in graft and tax cases.

After managing his brother's 1952 Senate campaign, he joined the staff of the investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., who charged Communist infiltration of the State Department. He quit six months later during the height of the furor over the Army-McCarthy hearings. Then he rejoined the staff when Democratic members ended their boycott of the hearings.

A few years later, he gained national prominence as chief counsel for a Senate committee investigating corruption in the Teamsters union. It was during this period that union boss James R. Hoffa called Kennedy "ruthless," a word his critics used again and again in later years.

In 1960, Kennedy directed the campaign that made his brother president. He became known as his brother's "no" man, handling unpleasant tasks and drawing criticism away from the candidate.

As attorney general, he was considered the second most powerful man in Washington. He was at his brother's side through the Bay of Pigs fiasco and the Cuban missile crisis.

After the Dallas assassination, Kennedy moved from Massachusetts to New York and amid cries of "carpetbagger," was elected to the Senate where he pushed for social legislation and became a leading critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

He stayed out of the current presidential race until after Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's strong showing in the March 12 New Hampshire primary.

"I run to seek new policies," he said as he announced his candidacy. "I run because it is now unmistakably clear that we can change these disastrous, divisive policies only by changing the men who make them. . . I cannot stand aside from the contest that will decide our nation's future."

With his wife Ethel and some of his 10 children at his side, the 42-year-old Kennedy entered and won presidential primaries in Indiana and Nebraska.

Then came defeat in the Oregon primary—the first time a Kennedy had lost an election. But Kennedy plunged on, and won Tuesday in South Dakota and California.

"On to Chicago," he told his cheering supporters in the Los Angeles hotel early Wednesday.

Outcome May Be Tragic If Senator Survives

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A grim possibility that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy might face an indefinite life of limited usefulness if he survives an assassin's bullet emerged Wednesday after first reports on the extent of brain damage.

Dr. John D. French, director of the Brain Research Institute at the University of California at Los Angeles, said in an interview that reports of injury to the central part of the brain raised grave doubts about Kennedy's recovery.

In New York, Dr. Lawrence P. Pool, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center neurosurgeon, said Dr. Henry Cuneo, one of the men who operated on Kennedy, had authorized him to give this version of the injury: "There was evidently serious damage to the cerebellum, the part of the brain on the extreme back of the head, on the right side; also to part of the right cerebral hemisphere, and also to the mid-brain, which is the main cable connecting the brain itself with all the rest of the body.

"This mid-brain deals with not only the function of motion in the arms and legs and sensation to the body but also with eye movements and even the life function itself, such as blood pressure, breathing, heart rate.

"So it's a very critical area, and this was injured, and this is why I fear—as Dr. Cuneo indicated—the outcome may be extremely tragic."

Dr. Pool said he was greatly fearful of the outcome, both in terms of Kennedy surviving and being in normal condition if he does survive.

Dr. French, also a neurosurgeon, said "if the central core, or brain stem, is damaged severely the outlook may be worse than if almost any other part of the brain were injured.

"Investigations at the institute have shown that this area is related to behavioral responses such as arousal from sleep and the skill with which we use our hands and feet," Dr. French said.

"Persons so injured have been known to live indefinitely without ever recovering usefulness—they become nobodies."

Dr. French said it would be a long time—days or even weeks—"before physicians can even guess whether Senator Kennedy will be able to continue his campaign."

Dr. French emphasized he had no direct word on the extent of damage but was talking only on the basis of news reports.

The brain stem, also called the mid-brain, is a tubular structure about three inches long and an inch in diameter which connects the spinal cord with the two main parts of the brain, the cerebrum and the cerebellum.

Dr. Jose Aguilar, neurosurgeon at Stanford University Medical Center, saw some hope in the fact that a small caliber bullet was used.

Kennedys Have Been Dogged by Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the Kennedys, the enviable triumphs always seem tempered by an awareness of unpredictable tragedy.

For as surely and successfully as they have pursued power and achievement, so too have the Kennedys been dogged by violence.

Now, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., at a moment of triumph in the California presidential primary, lies critically wounded in a Los Angeles hospital after surgery to remove a bullet from his brain.

To remain in contention for the Democratic presidential nomination Kennedy had to win in California. Win he did.

But a gunman joined the celebration in the Ambassador Hotel and as the 42-year-old senator was leaving, shot him three times.

All four sons of Joseph P. and Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy have been victims of violence.

John F. Kennedy reached the highest peak of any member of the family with his election to the presidency in 1960. Then on Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas, President Kennedy was shot and killed by an assassin firing at his motorcade.

The oldest Kennedy son, Joe Jr., had seemed to the family to be the one most likely to succeed at politics. But he died at the age of 29 when his bomber exploded on a mission in World War II.

The youngest son, Edward M. Kennedy, was elected to his brother John's old seat in the U.S. Senate in 1962. At that time, John was president and Robert was U.S. attorney general. Then in June 1964, less than one year after his brother's murder, Edward suffered a broken back in a plane crash.

For six months, Edward was immobilized and for months longer he wore a rigid brace and walked with a cane. But he returned to the Senate and full activity.

The Kennedy sons haven't been the only members of the family struck by tragedy.

Rosemary, the oldest daughter, has been in an institution for the mentally retarded since 1941.

Another daughter, Kathleen, served as an American Red Cross worker in London during World War II. She married William John Robert Cavendish, marquess of Hartington, and four months later he was killed on an infantry patrol.

In May 1948, Kathleen died in the crash of a chartered plane in southern France.

The three other Kennedy daughters, Patricia, Eunice and Jean, first came to public attention as attractive and active participants in their brothers' political campaigns.

During his lifetime, John F. Kennedy felt the grief of losing two infant children. A daughter was stillborn and a son, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, died of lung disease when two days old. Both are buried next to their father in Arlington National Cemetery.

The family patriarch, Joseph P. Kennedy, son of Irish immigrants, amassed one of the nation's largest fortunes and went on to serve as head of the Securities and Exchange Commission and as U.S. Ambassador to England.

On Dec. 19, 1961, less than one year after he saw his son take office as president, Joseph Kennedy suffered a severe stroke that left him an invalid.

Mrs. Robert Kennedy's family also has been struck time and again by tragedy.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Skakel, died in a plane crash in Oklahoma in 1955. Her brother, George Jr., was killed in a plane crash in 1966, and his widow, Joan Patricia Skakel, died in May 1967 when a particle of meat lodged in her throat.

Two Widows Visit Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two widows of assassinated leaders visited Wednesday at the hospital where Sen. Robert F. Kennedy lay critically wounded by gunshot.

Jacqueline Kennedy flew in by private jet to join other members of the Kennedy family.

Mrs. Martin Luther King paid a short visit.

The senator's wife, Ethel, and other family members spent the day at Good Samaritan Hospital.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy was hatless, and her hair disheveled, when she stepped from an international Business Machines company plane. She was greeted by about 15 friends and whisked to the hospital, where her entrance was jostled by a crowd of about 200 gathered outside.

Blaze of Shots Fells Five Other People

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The blaze of shots that critically wounded Sen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday at an election victory celebration, also felled five others in the crowded banquet hall.

The wounded included two newsmen, a union official and a teenager.

Police identified the five as William Weisel, 30; Ira Goldstein, 19; Elizabeth Evans, 43; Irwin Stroll, 17, and Paul Schrade, 43. All but Weisel, a Washington, D.C., resident, are from the Los Angeles area.

None of the bystanders was reported in critical condition.

Weisel, a unit manager for the American Broadcasting Co., was wounded in the left side and underwent surgery at Kaiser Hospital where he was reported in good condition.

Also taken to Kaiser was Paul Schrade, a regional officer of the United Auto Workers Union. Hospital spokesmen said

Scattered Members of Clan Are Slow to Learn of Tragedy

NEW YORK (AP) — In the big old white house on Cape Cod, a sick old man was allowed to sleep through the night. He could be told in the morning, when there was more definite news.

In London, it was 8:30 in the morning, and a princess and her prince were just getting up when a telephone call from America told them the news.

They at once put in a call to the beautiful young widow in New York. She was asleep. When they asked her for news, she thought they were talking about the election returns.

In Paris, a new ambassador was on his way to his office, and learned the news only when he reached the embassy.

Thus the numerous and widely scattered Kennedy clan began to learn of the horrible and shocking few minutes in Los Angeles when a victorious Robert F. Kennedy was shot and critically wounded by an assassin.

It was like a nightmare, reliving something they had all been through before.

The first to know, because they were there, were Kennedy's wife, Ethel; his sister, Jean, and her husband Stephen Smith; and another sister, Patricia Lawford.

Ethel had become separated

Major Presidential Candidates Cancel All Campaign Activity

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The major presidential candidates of both parties canceled their campaign activity within hours after the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

This was the second time in two months that America's efforts to select a new president were interrupted by an assassin. In the days after April 4, the candidates paused to mourn the murder of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who was slain in Memphis by a gunman.

Wednesday, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who lost to Kennedy in the California primary Tuesday, suspended political activity and announced that he would return to Washington to begin a "vigil" for his fallen rival.

"Like the rest of the nation, we have a vigil to keep and will join in prayer and hope for the recovery of Senator Kennedy," McCarthy said in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mrs. Kennedy Spends Time Close to Senator's Side

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, who stood beside her triumphant husband after he won California's democratic presidential primary Tuesday night but was separated from him when he was shot down, spent Wednesday close to his bedside.

With Ethel Kennedy, expecting her 11th child, were other members of the Kennedy clan.

She was given a room near that of her husband in the intensive care unit at Good Samaritan Hospital, where he underwent surgery for removal of a bullet from his brain.

Six of the couple's children, in Los Angeles for the election, were flown to Washington with pioneer astronaut John A. Glenn in an Air Force plane requested by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The youngsters are David, 12; Michael, 11; Courtney, 10; Kerry, 8; Christopher, 5, and Matthew, 4.

Jacqueline Kennedy, widow of assassinated President John F. Kennedy, was reported en route. Already here were brother Edward M. Kennedy, Democratic senator from Massachusetts and sisters Pat Lawford and Eunice Shriver.

"Lots of their friends have been here," a hospital aide said.

Mrs. Kennedy and Edward spent much of the day at Robert's bedside.

During the day Roman Catholic Mass was conducted for family members in the hospital board room.

The 10-story hospital, which looms over downtown Los Angeles, is nondenominational, but is operated under the auspices of the Episcopal Church.

The doctor who treated Sen. Robert Kennedy when he was first rushed from the hotel praised Ethel Kennedy for her composure immediately following the shooting.

Dr. Victor Baz who was at Central Receiving Hospital said Mrs. Kennedy thought at first that her husband was dead.

"She didn't believe that he was alive—sort of because she could see that he wasn't responding," he said. "So when we began to get a heartbeat, I put the stethoscope in her ears so she could listen and she was tremendously relieved."

Mrs. Kennedy then accompanied the senator in an ambulance to Good Samaritan.

"She was very distraught," Baz recalled, "but superb. She was very edgy, but my own wife wouldn't have done as well, I don't think."

Kennedy's devotion to his family was reflected in a touching sidelight reported by a television newsmen.

Roger Mudd of CBS noticed a bruise on Kennedy's forehead Tuesday night and asked Mrs. Kennedy about it.

She said Kennedy had received it while rescuing their 12-year-old son, David, who was caught in an undertow at Malibu Beach. The family had been visiting a friend's home at the beach during one of the senator's brief respites from campaigning.

SUSPECT CAPTURED

The suspect in the shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy, later identified as Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, who described himself as a Jordanian born in Jerusalem, is hustled out of the Ambassador Hotel after he was subdued by police.
